Edited by: Lt. Larry M. Jones, Boise P.D., 7200 Barrister Dr., Boise, Idaho, 83704. (208) 377-6748, 6772 or (Emergency) 377-6790.

SECOND EDITION

July 21, 1986

1. INITIAL RESPONSE — The police community nationwide must be hungry for information sources dealing with Cults, Sects, and Deviant Movements. The Editor has received over 300 requests for this Newsletter, a response which has temporarily slowed the publication process. Hopefully, the momentum will pick up so that needed information will get out to you quickly.

2. CULT KILLINGS OF NEWBORNS -- Various reports point to an alarming possibility ... that newborn infants may be a defenseless, readily available, largely untraceable source for ritual murder victims. A U.P.I. story in The Star-Ledger, 3-21-86, reported that the body of a day old child was discovered ... near a trash barrel at Mohegan Park in Fairfield (Conn.)..." It was apparently "...a warning with religious symbolism...the result of an Afro-Caribbean cult, most likely Santeria..." according to Dade Co. (Fla.) Dep. Med. Examiner Dr. Charles Wetli, an authority on Santeria.

The full term Caucasian boy had suffocated and then its face and head were brutally disfigured. The body was wrapped in adult pajamas, blue bottoms and a red and white flower-patterned top..." (Colors and combinations are significant to various forms of Santeria worship.)"...Coins, food, and trinkets were left around the body..."

Santeria evolved from African origins as black slaves were imported to the Americas and forced to adopt Spanish/Roman Catholic religious traditions which were foreign to their polytheistic superstitions. In order to conform to the religious forms of their masters, these slaves adopted Roman Catholic statuary and saints as look-alike gods. The outward appearances alleviated persecution. The actual worship and traditions of Santeria are radically different than Catholicism.

On the other side of the continent, a rural Oregon sheriff's department recently found the remains of a newborn infant girl concealed in a garbage bag in a dumpster. The investigator believes there is satanic-ritual involvement in the murder. He noted the following factors: 1) The autopsy showed that the head had been severed from the torso with a large, sharp instrument. 2) The head was more decomposed than the body, indicating that they had been stored separately, the body possibly being in a cooler. 3) The body and heart cavities were devoid of blood. 4) The arms were elongated, possibly indicating that the body had hung upside down to drain it of blood. 5) The placenta was still attached. A knot was tied in the umbilical cord. 6) The garbage bag was the expensive, drawstring variety. It is not gold in the area of the recovery. 7) No colored threads, waxes, or oils were identified on the body. 8) The probable span of dates during which the murder occurred encompassed April 30th, the 'Walpurgisnacht's satanic holiday which is #2 in importance on the ritual calendar! (Please Note: The "Lammas" holiday is upcoming on July 31.)

The detectives are withholding some of these details from the press to aid the investigation. If you can offer help, information, or advice, please contact the Editor for referral information. Follow-up investigation includes tracing of recently-pregnant females in the area, library check-out records on satanism books, and local teen groups who are into satanism. Can you help? (As of 7-14-86 - No new leads have developed.)

EDITORS NOTE: Think about it...unlimited sex in our "free society" produces thousands of unwanted babies yearly. These are "disposed of" (e.g: available) in a variety of legal and illegal ways. Sexual orgies are part of the instant rewards of satanic worship; these undoubtedly produce pregnancies. The twisted logic of satanism supports the sacrifice of innocence (especially "satan's babies") to him. Babies' bones are soft; they are easily consumed by fire.

3. MUTILATION SUSPECT ARRESTED -- Detective Sgt. Bill Landry, Gonzales, La. (P.D., * forwarded an article from the Morning Advocate, a Baton Rouge newspaper. The May 1, 1986, article documented the arrest that day of 43 year old Jack Beasley for the brutal decapitation/mutilation murder of a nude female. "...She had been stabbed in the back, her chest cut open and some organs removed, police said. Her breasts were severed, and there were deep cuts on her arms... A trail of blood led police to a garbage can and the victim's head was discovered inside a pillow case..." This article caught Sgt. Landry's attention because of the previous teletype warning about April 30th (Walpurgisnacht) and the possibility of ritual sacrifices on the night of the crime.

4. DAYCARE RITUAL MOLESTATIONS -- Due to a gag order, the exact details of this Nevada case can't be included, but the Editor will refer you to the Detective involved if you desire personal contact. Two first-graders, brother and sister, told their parents that they had been sexually molested by the operators of a daycare center. They told of animal killings, pumping out blood and drinking it, and eating human flesh from a slain family. They were threatened and lied to in order to insure their silence, shown skeletons, and hung in closets or put into boxes while being molested. They reported that one of the suspects had killed a horse and a cow, drained the blood, and cut up certain body parts.

These stories were independently confirmed by other children who had moved out of state and were not acquainted with the initial children. The second set of children told counselors similar bizarre things about the same suspects. Sexual abuse included: cutting penis with a knife; use of cattle prods to force sexual involvement with adults and children including siblings; dunking in hot water; sex with cats and dogs; eating feces and poisons; and insertion of fingers and foreign objects into vagina. They were threatened with alligators, sharks, dracula, satan and their parents.

The psychological behavior changes included: fear of leaving parents, nightmares, fear of and preoccupation with death, extensive masturbation, bed wetting, self-mutilation, strong overt sexual behavior, and fear of sleeping alone. The fear and guilt bondage will leave mental scars on these children for life.

Direct evidence to satanic ritual activities was probably destroyed before the police were able to search, but the parallels are obvious. The suspects are currently charged with dozens of violations.

- 5. DUNGEONS AND DRAGONS -- This seemingly faddish kids role playing game has tremendous power to control and alter the behavior of those who become deeply involved. The purpose of play is power...over others, over circumstances, over riches, etc. Supernatural forces and characters can become real to players as they adopt individual roles. The game entails an overt tie-in to demonic and satanic involvement. For someone (juvenile or adult) with an addiction-prone mentality, this "game" can sever normal ties with reality. The Dungeon Master becomes the god-ruler over the lives of all participants and sometimes even unwitting parties.

Investigator Jerry Beasley, Alabama Bureau of Investigation, is investigating the recent murder of an introverted, intelligent 31 year old male as potentially being tied to heavy D&D involvement. He had been struck in the head 5 to 30 times and was found lying on his patio. Robbery did not appear to be a motive. Investigation is still continuing. The infamous Freeway Stranglers in the L.A. area ostensibly were D&D buffs who met while playing the game.

For detailed information about D&D and it's sometimes deadly effects, contact: Mrs. Pat Pulling, B.A.D.D., Inc. (Bothered About Dungeons and Dragons), Box 5513, Richmond, Va., 23220, (804)-264-9167. A 1985 news release by B.A.D.D. and the National Coalition on Television Violence documented nine suicides and murders directly linked to D&D involvement. One of these was Mrs. Pulling's son who shot himself just hours after a D&D curse was placed on him during a game conducted at his own high school. Detailed descriptions of killing, including satanic human sacrifice, assassinations, sadism, murder, and curses of insanity appear in D&D manuals.

6. RITUALISTIC CRIME SEMINAR -- Sept. 9-12, 1986, Ft. Collins, Colo. The Northern Colo./Southern Wyo. Dets. Assoc will sponsor a 3 1/2 day seminar at the Ft. Collins Holiday Inn on these dates, featuring Sandi Gallant, SFPD Intell.; Mike Warnke, former satanic priest; Ken Wooden, Nat'l Coalition for Children's Justice; Pat Pulling, President of Bothered About Dungeons and Dragons, Inc. (BADD); and Dr. Lawrence Pazder, Psychiatrist and expert in ritualized child abuse. Fee: $150. Rooms: Single-$27.75; Double-$32.75. Contact: Inv. John L. Davis, Box 2489, Ft. Collins, Colo., 80522, for details and registration information. This will be a good one!

7. RESOURCE: "MOTIVATION UNLIMITED" -- This multi-faceted crisis intervention group is a wealth of information about ritualized child abuse. It incorporates an understanding that a wide variety of problems--from suicides to child abuse--can be tracked to similar causes. Call: (714) 820-4621. Write: 536 W. Lorraine Pl, Rialto, CA., 92376. Motivation Unlimited has a video tape of a panel discussion dealing with ritual child abuse and satanism which will open your eyes!

8. RESOURCE: ARIZONA AREA -- Ranger Ed Byers, Tucson Mtn. Unit, Saguaro National Monument, Rt. 9, Box 905, Tucson, Az., 85743, has made extensive studies of several covens of witches after first discovering their activities in his area during the Fall of 1984. He believes that active covens have operated inside the Monument since the late 1970's and has developed training materials and information sources about covens. Ed has put on police training and is willing to share information.

9. NEVADA CATTLE MUTILATIONS — Sgt. Jerry Carlton, Lyon County Sheriff, Nevada informed the Editor that he was investigating three cases of cattle mutilation which were almost identical. The cattle were killed three days after the full moon on three consecutive months. All were shot in the head, had the artery behind a foreleg slashed (apparently to drain blood), and had their sexual organs cut out. Jerry believes he has a probable ritual area identified in a remote rangeland locale.

Det. Rick Cypher, Nevada Division of Investigations (702)885-4408, called about the same case and said investigators had found this business card at one of the mutilation scenes. If any officer is familiar with the persons named on the card or a group calling themselves the "Dirty Half Dozen", please contact Jerry or Rick.

10. ARYAN NATION/WHITE SUPREMEIST CONFERENCE — A large convocation of white supremacists recently met in Hayden Lake, Idaho. The Aryan Nation-Church of Jesus Christ-Christian hosted the conclave which drew members of hate groups from all over the nation. The meetings were guarded by heavily-armed men in 'cammies.' Many participants carried personal weapons. The bigoted, racial-purity philosophies and obvious neo-Nazi trappings are chilling, especially in light of the strong occultic/demonic influences present in Hitler's Nazi movement in Europe. More on this new view of Nazism, neo-Nazism, and the New Age in the next File 18 Newsletter.

11. DEFINITIONS -- Some of these terms might not be known to you:

- Amulet: Ornament or charm supposedly charged with magical power to ward off spells, bad luck, disease, etc.
- Ancient One: Name sometimes given to the officiating priestess at a Black Mass
- Arcana: Secret process or formula; major Arcana is 22 Tarot cards, minor Arcana is 56 or 52.
- Athame: Ceremonial knife, a basic ritual tool in witchcraft; may symbolize male organ.
- Baculum: Witches' wand, staff, broomstick.
- Black Magic: Used for harm, deceit, destruction.
- Cantrip: Spell cast by a witch.
- Demon: To occultists, any non-human spirit; in the Bible, cast-down rebellious angels.
- Divination: Attempt to gain knowledge by occult means.
- Familiar: Demonic spirit serving a witch or medium; any animal that spirit inhabits.
- Grimoire: Coven's book of spells; may have curses, names signed in blood, etc. Good evidence if you can locate it; will help track a coven's activities.
- Lady: Female leader of a coven.
- Ligature: A spell which binds or prevents a person from doing something.
- Magister: Male leader of a coven.
- Magus: Male witch.
- Materialization: Physical manifestation of a spirit being.
- Necromancy: Communication with supposed spirits of the dead; probably communication with demons masquerading as the departed person's spirit.

Sabbat: Quarterly or semi-quarterly meeting of witches or satanists; high ritual days.

Satan: Literally "the adversary", according to the Bible the chief of the angels who rebelled against God and was cast down to earth to be a disembodied spirit with authority in the earthly realm for a time. Accompanied by 1/3 of God's angels who also rebelled; these became satan's demonic helpers.

Seal: A demon's summoning diagram or signature.

Sorcery: Magic, usually of the black variety.

Voodoo: Occultic religion combining magic, spiritism, and fetishes.

White Magic: Magic that is supposedly helpful or beneficial; actually just another shade of black magic.

Occult holidays include:

HALLOWEEN (October 31): The end and beginning of the witches' year; power of underworld is unleashed; spirits are freed to roam the earth; best time to contact spirits; most likely to include ritual sacrifices to satan; ritual altar in circle faces Northwest.

CANDLEMAS (February 2): Celebration of lengthening of days and coming of Spring; ritual altar in circle faces Northeast.

BELTANE (April 30): Known as Walpurgis Night, Walpurgisnacht, May Eve; coincides with crop-planting time; Celts offered human sacrifices; second highest Sabbat; ritual altar in circle faces Southeast.

LAMMAS (July 31): Occurs at beginning of harvest season when fruits and grains ripen; ritual altar in circle faces Southwest.

Lesser holidays are the solstices (longest and shortest days of the year) and the equinoxes (when days and nights are the same length):

YULE (December 22): Winter solstice; shortest day; altar faces North.

VERNAL EQUINOX (March 21): Day and night are same length; altar faces East.

ST. JOHN'S EVE (June 22): Known as Midsummer or Summer Solstice; longest day; altar faces South.

MICHAELMAS (Sept. 21): Autumn equinox; day and night are same length with days getting shorter; altar faces West.

Thanks to Larry Nelson, Mike Warnke Ministries, for the bulk of this information.

12. POLICE HANDBOOK ON THE OCCULT -- Mary Ann Herold compiled, "A Basic Guide to the Occult for Law Enforcement Agencies" and offers it for sale for $3.50 + $1.50 for postage and handling. Contact: Technical Research Institute, Box 2095, Arvada, Colo., 80001. Video training supplements to the "Guide" are available too.

13. NON-PROFIT STATUS -- The Editor is considering the establishment of a non-profit organization to facilitate the nationwide networking of C/S/DM information to police, defray expenses, and help with the clerical jungle! If you have expertise with NPO incorporation, let me know. Thanks.

14. MAILING LIST: -- Included in this issue is a complete mailing list to date of those officers who have expressed interest in networking C/S/DM information. Please contact those in your area to build local/regional networks.

15. I.P.T.M. SEMINARS -- The Institute of Police Technology and Management has scheduled two more 3 day C/S/DM seminars in Jacksonville on July 29-31 and December 8-10. Cost is $295 + food and lodging. Phone: (904) 646-2722.

THIRD EDITION

September 5, 1986

1. FILE 18 NEWSLETTER: INTRODUCTION AND PHILOSOPHY — This Newsletter is published to aid police officers in networking intelligence information concerning cults, sects, and deviant movements. At the same time information is presented which will be informative from a training and awareness viewpoint. Resources are identified to facilitate the solution of your cases and hopefully aid prosecution.

FILE 18 must be participative in nature ... a kind of police bulletin board with a select readership. The information contained should be disseminated as far as possible so that it reaches the field officers and investigators in your agency who have initial contact with cult/occult related cases. Awareness on the field level will generate an upward flow of intelligence data from your own people as they encounter things on the street. Please share verifiable information with the Editor so that the rest of the readership can also be informed. If you are trying to track a rumor or develop investigative leads, share those, too. Every attempt will be made to protect sensitive investigations by generalization of the Newsletter article.

Each recipient is expected to protect the information in the Newsletter from indiscriminate dissemination, especially to the media or civilians who may react inappropriately or out of context. Please establish your own local networks for information and pass interesting items to the Editor. Case histories published in the Newsletter will be verified as far as possible and sources of information cited, unless that would impair an investigation. In the latter case, direct contact with the Editor can be made for referral information to the investigator working the case.

As noted in the Second Edition, a non-profit organization specifically to support this effort may be in the offing. Until then, FILE 18 has been adopted by another NPO so that funding can be legally processed according to non-profit organization law and tax exempt status. Later, a reasonable subscription price may be established. For now, if you are so lead, financial contributions should be made to: Trinity Fellowship Church, 222 N. Latah, Boise, Idaho 83706, ATTN: File 18 Newsletter. So far the entire cost of publication has come from private contributions. We'll remain in the black. The stamps donated by some of you have been put to good use... Thanks.

2. WILL 1986 BE THE 'BIG YEAR'? - An information source cited the following rumor which he has heard from a number of persons involved in witchcraft. Apparently the word is that Halloween '86 will be the time when a "big statement" will be made by witches/satanists. That is all the Editor knows about it ... have you heard similar rumors? Do you have sources of information you could tap concerning this rumor?

3. LOCAL NOTES — Amarillo, Texas: Dick Weathers, A.P.D. reports that his department investigated three attempts during March and April this year by satanic groups who tried to break into a mausoleum to steal a body or body parts. All three unsuccessful attempts occurred just before ritual holiday dates. He would like officers investigating similar cases to contact him.

Cheyenne Wells, Colorado: Undersheriff Jim Blain, Cheyenne C.S.O., noted that His jurisdiction has a strong Posse Comitatus movement and has been having some trouble with satanists, although he did not specify. Jim can be reached at 303-767-5633.

Middlesex County, New Jersey: In New Jersey a STAR LEDGER article from May 1986, quotes the County's Prosecuting Attorney Alan Rockoff as blaming "...the influence of heavy metal rock music... (especially) a group called Slayer..." as responsible for major cemetery desecration at the Beth Israel Memorial Park in Woodbridge by two juveniles. The two boys, described as "...devotees, groupies, totally immersed in and totally influenced by heavy metal rock music and alcohol..." allegedly tipped over 59 tombstones and spraypainted swastikas and satanic symbols. One suspect had been recently convicted of a similar crime in a Perth Amboy cemetery. Damage approached $200,000.

Apparently an 18-member group called the 'Hell Crew' operates in the area. Although these two juveniles were not members of that group, they were "... friends of the Hell Crew." Rockoff identified a common thread between the two arrestees and the Hell Crew, notably their devotion to the 'thrash' music of Slayer. Two Slayer albums were identified by Rockoff as particularly harmful—"Show No Mercy" and "Hell Awaits." "...Rockoff described some of the heavy metal lyrics and cemetery desecrations as "anti-ethnic, anti-moral, anti-religious, and anti-American..."

In the Editor's opinion, Mr. Rockoff was bold in his public assertions and should be supported by law enforcement. He spoke out, daring to make the connection between negative heavy metal influences and prosecutable offenses. All we need to do is look beneath the surface in our own investigations to see similar causal factors.

The Hell Crew was the topic of a newspaper article by a HOME NEWS staff writer (New Brunswick, N.J., May 1986). You may recognize similarities to groups in your jurisdiction:

The Hell Crew is described as a "...loose-knit group of teenagers,...their trademarks are long hair and black leather jackets...many of them enjoy hanging out in dark, secluded areas, drinking beer, and listening to loud, pulsating music." Rockoff was quoted as saying "... They have a creed to deface and defame wherever and whatever they can for the purpose of shocking society."

Of course, members of the Hell Crew disagree with the opinions of Rockoff and 'establishment' spokespersons. The Hell Crew's favorite groups, they say, are Venom and Slayer, conceding that the songs contain satanic references. An unidentified Hell Crew member said "...They sing about the devil and satanic things, killing priests, killing church and killing God..." He also admitted that he and his friends like to hang out in cemeteries "...because of the atmosphere..." where they frequently hold "Hell Parties". He continued, "You're around your friends , listening to music, you light a fire...it reminds you of Hell...We just like to hang out and have a good time."

Editor's Note: Who is kidding who? What you concentrate on, allow to become our focus, increasingly controls your life, right? How many times have we picked up the pieces from the different verses of that song?)

[REDACTED] parks, Nev.: F.B.I. S/A Roger Young, Las Vegas, and Det. Bob Luke, Las Vegas Metro., agree that parents, social workers, and the police should pay more attention to cults and satanic worship among Nevada teens and adults. The NEVADA APPEAL, A Carson City paper, ran an April 22, 1986 article by Dorothy Losich quoting the two officers. They noted that "...Satanic worship is growing, particularly among upper and middleclass white teen-agers who are indulging in music, drugs, sex, and violence in growing numbers..."

[REDACTED] the two men testified at the (Nevada) Governor's Victim Rights Conference in Sparks. They stressed that "...the worst thing the public can do is not believe that satanic rituals exist in Nevada and throughout the nation. Three types of devil worship are taking place, according to Young, including self-styled practitioners who learn from books and the media, "very religious satanists" who attend regular services and rituals, and cults, which engage in everything from palm reading to murder..."

[REDACTED] According to Young, "...The most frequent victims of devil worshippers are animals and children, who cult members seek for their blood and youth...The results...include kidnapping, cannibalism, necrophilia, and other forms of deviant sex, sexual abuse, and occasionally, murder...Federal investigations have found persons involved in satanic worship working in day care centers and pre-schools...children are forced to drink blood mixed with urine or eat human excrement in an effort by adults to destroy the child's self esteem...They are forced to have sex with each other, adults and animals...to blur their sense of right and wrong...children were forced to watch other children being killed, to devour human flesh, and even to murder their peers...Episodes are frequently not placed in police reports because people are "afraid they'll be mocked" for suggesting the incident took place..."

Citing Nevada evidence (Editor's Note: Which, if we'll admit it, can probably be seen in our home jurisdictions if we look hard enough.), S/A Young noted that evidence of devil worship has appeared several times in Nevada. "...Evidence of pentagrams and other symbols..." has been found at Carson City break-ins; "...in rural Nevada, mutilated cattle have been found, possibly as a result of cult rituals;...In Las Vegas...a local judge found a medallion on his front lawn depicting the devil;...A junior high school student submitted a drawing he made of burning crosses and a sign of the "beast"...(and he)...received an "A" from his teacher..."

[REDACTED] "...During his presentation, Luke displayed invitations to teen-age parties...which featured symbols of the occult...one...drew 30-35 vehicles painted with occult symbols to Sunrise Mountain...robed figures have been spotted entering mines in west Las Vegas...persons dressed in robes walking with a child dressed in a white robe..."

S/A concluded by pointing out that "...Anyone can worship any way they want to...and it isn't until a crime is committed that action can be taken...The trouble is, we don't have any laws (regarding satanic ritual)..."

A-lam'-o cult, pseudo-Christian and highly authoritarian, which started in the Ozark Mountains in 1968, may be considering relocating their HQ to Spokane or Boise. (But this stuff just doesn't happen around here!) Last Spring, A Boise P.D. Juvenile Detective, Kurt McAllister, stopped two Alamo Cult members living out of their car and passing out virulent anti-Catholic/anti-Pope literature which is characteristic of this cult.

Tony Alamo represents the charismatic central figure in this group and holds himself up as messiah to his followers who are reportedly subject to intensive mind control techniques. (Don't underestimate the effectiveness of mind control techniques; properly applied they can break down the strongest mental defenses in a matter of a few days. Often, people who are drawn to such groups don't have the luxury of superb mental defenses, so are more easily entrapped.) Nationwide membership is estimated at about 2000, a figure which the cult greatly inflates. However, through slave-like working conditions in the cults' businesses—staffed by members—it reportedly grossed over $8 million in a single year. The group has undergone intensive pressure from the feds. and may be falling back to regroup in a quieter (groan!) locale.

The Cult Awareness Network classifies this group as "very bad", according to Mr. Reginald Alev. It specializes in attracting converts through hate literature. They allegedly attempt to "buy" babies from unwed mothers as an alternative to abortion. The children are then absorbed into the cult. In custody-dispute cases where only one parent is a member of the Alamo Cult, the children have been known to disappear as the cult whisks them to related groups in other states.

Norma Ivers, Alma, Arkansas, Mayor's Office, 501-632-5054, and Larry Zilliox, a New Jersey private investigator and authority on the Alamo Cult, 201-762-0924, can be contacted for additional information. If you can confirm or deny the rumored move to Spokane or Boise, please contact the Editor.

Rockville, Md.: Ofc. John Converse, Rockville P.D., asked about the Great Commission International cult. This group adopts various names, some of which mimic legitimate churchs; AKA's include: "Alpha-Omega" in Iowa, New Christian Life Church, New Covenant Church, etc. The charismatic-messiah figure is named Jim McCutter. This is a typical authoritarian-pyramidal structure cult which extensively uses the "shepherding" principle. Shepherding assigns 4 to 12 new devotees to an indoctrinated "shepherd" who is at least one level higher in the cult. The "sheep" become dependent on the "shepherd" for everything and must "confess" to him daily. This psychological/physical dependency technique is characteristic of mind-control groups. This cult is a "high evangelization" group which actively recruits new members. Submission to cult authority is required and maintained.

McCutter's teachings establish that there should be no separation of church and state. (Guess who he plans to have run the church/government of the United States?) The G.C.I. actively participates in partisan politics, seeking to hold precinct political party posts and to flood local elections with their candidates. The members are not known to be armed, but seem intent upon seizing control through the elective process. They recently bought radio station WNTR in Washington, D.C.

Gulf Coast Area: A Gulf Coast state reports that possible ritualistic activity may be involved in the death of an infant whose partial body was discovered at remote site. Crime scene and medical experts believe the child to be a white female, less than three months old. Only partial body remains were located, but those remains had been carefully preserved before being discarded. No blood or other body fluids were present in the remains, both sexual organs and heart were missing, no embalming fluid present; brain matter absent. Facial skin appeared to have been peeled off the missing skull. At this time investigators have no report of missing infants to compare to remains.

Editor's Note: This crime, which apparently occurred near the time of an important summer ritual date is still under active investigation. Contact information for anyone desiring to speak to the investigator(s) can be obtained through the Editor.

Port Angeles, Wash.: Clallam C.S.O. Deputy Larry Dunn started working on a single child abuse case. It evolved into a group of five similar cases all related to the same day care center where alleged satanic ritual abuse has occurred. All five victims are 5-6 yrs. Larry handled the investigation very well from the first, separately interviewing the victims, carefully recording each interview, etc. He put together a recital of black masses, animal sacrifices, people in robes, cannibalism, strange talking, perverted sexual acts, mutilations, and the possibility that at least two babies had either been seriously injured or killed. One suspect has been arrested and other arrests are pending as he attempts to isolate the ritual location to process it for evidence. (Editor's Note: Are you beginning to see that satan-inspired ritual abuse at daycare centers is something we should be more aware of? What can you do to develop intelligence files about known satanists in your jurisdiction, and cross-reference them to known daycare center operators and employees?)

THE TWISTED CROSS — Joseph J. Carr has added a book by this name to his published list of 38 books. Mr. Carr, an electronics engineer in Arlington, Virginia, researched the occultic influence on Nazism for five years. His book (Huntington House, Inc., I.S.B.N. #0-920322-22-6, 1985) starts the foreword with a quote from NEWSWEEK (July 20, 1981): "...With enough distortion, a Cross will become a swastika."

The synopsis on the back cover aptly explains the theme which Carr's book covers in easily readable detail: "Nazism was no mere political movement of racist gangsters and misfits, as is commonly believed. Joseph Carr, by thorough research and documentation, shows that Nazism was an occultic religion in which Adolph Hitler was the messiah, Heinrich Himmler the high priest, and the Death Head formation the clergy. Nazism and the New Age Movement are one and the same: they are merely different manifestations of the same evil root. One will doubt that Adolph Hitler became the agent of the New Age."

Any law enforcement officer who has seen neo-Nazi-influenced groups spring up will benefit from Carr's fascinating record of the history and development of post-WWII Nazism and its persistently re-occurring themes in today's society. "Know the enemy and he is yours" seems applicable. The Nazi phenomenon caused worldwide depredation and the near-extinction of European Jews; its occultic influence boils just beneath the surface in many areas of the U.S. today and invades the philosophies of many non-traditional groups.

5. HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE AND RESOURCE BOOKS — The Editor would like to remind each reader that your personal belief in the actuality of the weird, outlandish, and often sickening crimes, movements, and ideologies discussed in the FILE 18 NEWSLETTER is not the object of this effort. All you must believe is that VERY BAD MEN AND WOMEN in our society and throughout the world DO believe in endless variations of non-traditional philosophies which cause them to sometimes commit gruesome and destructive criminal acts. Our professional calling is to step into that crime cycle and stop what we can.

'Worst case scenarios' involving mutilation, mayhem, and torture-sabders catch our attention to the greatest degree. When crimes are committed by suspects who are influenced by allegiance to their personal 'god' (whoever that might be), police investigators must be aware of their peculiar mindsets in order to effectively interview them, investigate crime scenes, educate supervisors and prosecuting attorneys, and present believable testimony to shocked juries.

Satan, as a spirit world identity, was not invented by Marvel Comics or Steven Spielberg! His basis for existence in this world is described in the Bible starting in Genesis. The extreme efforts expended by modern satanists to desecrate all things related to Jesus Christ stem directly from the antipathy between the Biblical characterization of Jesus as God's Son and His arch enemy satan.

Satan was, according to the Bible, formerly the created angel named Lucifer who rebelled against God and was cast from heaven to dwell on earth as a disembodied spirit. (According to Biblical accounts, Lucifer was in charge of the music in heaven; relate that to the strong 'devil worship' and perverted visual and audio influences of some of the worst heavy metal groups seen today.)

Basically, if you want to determine where an avowed satanist's head is, determine what the Biblical God would desire, than picture the exact opposite...you'll be pretty close. Truth vs lies. Gentleness vs violence. Forgiveness vs revenge. Order vs helter skelter. Submission to authority vs arrogance. Beauty vs ugliness. Health vs perversion. Light vs darkness. Hope vs despair. Restoration vs suicide. Life vs death.

All that for this! The Editor will try to identify various reference works which you can easily obtain to provide background information on many of the groups and movements which may be encountered in your jurisdictions. There are three biases which we must consider:

First - books written by members of non-traditional groups are suspect in that they are often written to lead the unsuspecting into the group...to establish a legitimate, if erroneous, outward appearance. Illegal acts which members might commit will not be admitted in writing, yet it is those very acts the police are most interested in uncovering.

Second - Reference works written by non-participants (often from a psychologist's or sociologist's empirical perspective) may provide a superficial treatment of the subject, neglecting ethical/moral/legal comparisons. The basis of criminal law, however, revolves on the 'rightness' or 'wrongness' of people's actions. The passive observer/reporter may focus on trends, histories, and population dynamics without addressing the destructive physical, psychological, or spiritual aspects of non-traditional group membership and victimization.

Third - Religious writers sometimes tend to write from limited perspectives, overgeneralize, or stereotype. The worst of these attack other movements with zeal, if not with documented facts. The best, address their topics from a blended perspective which includes the natural, psychological, and spiritual, and is well-grounded on documentable evidence.

All can be sources of data and you are encouraged to verify facts from more than one source. The following are some books which are valuable quick references: (Please send in good sources you have discovered.)

LARSON'S BOOK OF CULTS by Bob Larson, Tyndale House Publishers, Inc., Library of Congress, Catalog #82-60018, ISBN 0-8423-2104-7, Eighth Printing 1985.

Written in easy-to-read encyclopedic form, Larson's book gives condensed descriptions of more than 50 cults and "-isms" from historical, sociological, and theological perspectives. The Editor especially appreciated the author's introduction concerning basic cult concepts, terms, and myths. Each chapter dealing with specific groups ends with a quick reference outlining the founders, textual basis, known symbols, to whom the beliefs appeal, and locations. The addenda include background sources for minor cults, a recommended reading list, annotated bibliography, and twenty coercive cult techniques. The paperback book is fully indexed for easy reference and sells for less than $10.00.

THE CULT EXPLOSION by Dave Hunt, Harvest House Publishers, Library of Congress, Catalog #80-80458, ISBN #0-89081-241-1. 1980.

Hunt's book provides reading for those of you who want to understand the subtle ways cults prey upon the fears, needs, and weaknesses of people. He quotes facts and personal experiences of people who escaped from the control of non-traditional groups. There is real danger in the recent upsurge of C/S/DM activity which translates into crimes ranging from civil rights violations to fraud, assault, and worse.

This paperback includes explanation of the following topics: Science, Physics, and Religion; the Sorcerers and the Drug Connection; TM; Altered States of Consciousness; Godhood; the Ultimate Lie; Morality, Cultic Sex, and Sin; Fanatic Lawlessness; Witchcraft and the Women's Movement; the Star Wars Force; Spirit Communication; Where are the Dead; Battle for the Mind; the Coming World Government; Hitler's God-Man; and many others. Price: About $7.00

6. FRIENDS OF LAW ENFORCEMENT — As the Editor gathers data it is apparent that many sources of information about non-traditional and potentially destructive groups in our society exist. Many people have made extensive studies of specialized topics and have amassed a bulk of information and helps which we can tap and/or contribute to. Let the Editor know of resources which are trustworthy and supportive of police efforts. Listed below are some contacts you might find helpful:

CHILD LURES (KEN WOODEN), Box 4345, Shelburne, Vt., 05482, Telephone: 802-985-8458 — Deals with children who have been sexually molested, ritually abused, with parents of missing or murdered children. Wooden was co-producer or the "20-70" segment on Satan worship in Jonestown, and an investigative reporter at Jonestown, is an author, lecturer, and will speak at the N. Colo./S. Wyo. Dets. Assoc. Seminar in Ft. Collins, Colo., 9/9 - 9/12/86.

DR. DALE GRIFFIS, Ph.D., Box 309, Tiffin, Ohio, 44883, Telephone: 429-447-8611 — Ex-police captain in Tiffin, 25 year police veteran, researcher, trainer, lecturer, information source about non-traditional group activity and intelligence information. Expert on cult and occult crimes. Authored, "A Law Enforcement Primer on Cults." Will provide an article for this Newsletter entitled, "The Four Faces of Satan."

abuser depression, e.) anger or hatred, f.) suicidal tendencies, &) self-injury or mutilation, h.) blackouts, i.) childhood amnesia, j.) high intelligence level, k.) an over-achiever, l.) black-and-white (bi-polar) thinking, m.) god phobic, n.) seeming multiple personalities or dissociative dysfunction disorder, or, o.) fixation with or references to satan or devona.

The perpetrators leave tell-tale evidence on the body of the ritualized abuse victim. These signs last for a lifetime and can be pertinent to the knowledgeable investigator. They include: a.) Brands or Tattoos of coven symbols (found inside the hairlines, on the neck/shoulder, on hands/palms/fingers, on back/buttocks, on breasts/cheast, or, inside the lips of the vagina/on the genitals); b.) Scars (from rope burns on wrists or ankles, from cuts on the left wrist or both wrists, from cuts on the abdomen, from cuts inside the thighs or on the sides of the neck, and from scourge or whip marks on back/buttocks and/or upper backside of thighs); and, c.) Missing Digits (usually a little finger, often on the left hand, or, a left-hand ring finger at the center knuckle, or missing toes, or missing toes and fingers due to thin wire restraints used to immobilize the person during rituals.)

Bizarre, as this may sound, those in mental health, counselling, or pastoral fields must confront multiple personalities manifesting in an individual survivor. There may be some confusion with the Multiple Personality Disorder and how it relates to the survivor. In some cases you have the following: a.) multiple personalities, b.) demons manifesting as personalities (Editor's Note: Rebecca Brown, M. D., in her new book PREPARE FOR WAR, Chick Publications, maintains that every "multiple personality" manifested in a ritualized abuse survivor is, in fact, a demon, the very purpose for the bizarre rituals, she says. She cautions therapists and counselors not to overlook this fact or fail to deal with it on an appropriate spiritual basis.), c.) personalities with one or more (not all) being possessed, d.) personalities with one or more being a practicing Christian (which is not to be confused with a 'religious spirit'), or, e.) an alter-ego or dissociative disorder.

Total control of the abused person is the ultimate desired objective of the perpetrators. They utilize brainwashing and indoctrination methods which are 'state-of-the-art.' Use of similar therapeutic techniques by a well-meaning clinician can add to the problems the survivor is experiencing.

- > A. The E.E.G. or similar electro-stimuli may be attached to the head or other nerve endings for the purpose of breaking the will, encouraging obedience, layering personalities, and insuring silence through threat enforcement.
B. Ingestion of animal or human urine, feces, blood, orgasmic secretions, or flesh-often mixed with wine or mind-altering drugs--causes degradation of the person, lessens his/her inhibitions, causes obedience, and supposedly increases spiritual power if done in a ritual.
C. Isolation in closets, basements, caskets (with or without a corpse), houses, or any dark, restraining area tends to break the will, foster obedience, and reinforces a 'no-absolute' condition (often they are isolated even when they perform willingly.)
D. Drugs such as belladonna, heroin, LSD, methamphetamines, and others are applied to lessen inhibitions, cause obedience, create confusion and an inability to correctly discern reality, and foster a dependency upon the coven for regular drug supplies.
E. Forced participation in sexual revels, both hetero- and homosexual in nature, including all possible combinations of perversions with children, adults, and animals, creates humiliation, degradation, sexual gratification, destroys normal bonding, and supposedly increases spiritual power, and appeases the coven's god(s).
F. Starvation and protein deprivation quickly foster obedience, cause confusion, and make the mind more susceptible to outside suggestions and control.

1. C.C.I.N., INC.--FOR YOUR INFORMATION!

We are a unique information network by and for law enforcement and qualified civilians who have entered the fight against cult crime. Your phone calls and letters describing cult crime investigations and training information make each issue of the FILE 18 NEWSLETTER possible. C.C.I.N. is a non-profit corporation which subsists solely by your monetary support through subscriptions ($15/yr.) and gifts. (The I.R.S. notified the Editor that Tax Exempt Status has been approved for C.C.I.N., Inc. so your contributions are deductible!) Everyone involved in the publication of our printed materials volunteers his or her time. The editor wishes to thank Sigrid, Patty, Marje, Joyce, Kristin, Matt, and Meagan who tirelessly copy, fold, staple, label, sort, and bundle.

If you want to be added to the list of 1,000-plus officers who now receive the NEWSLETTER, write to us at the address above. FILE 18 is published every 6-8 weeks. Feel free to make copies of the NEWSLETTER for training or distribution to bona fide law enforcement or qualified related personnel. Please do not release this information to the news media or to persons who would abuse it for their own gain.

2. THE ADULT SURVIVOR OF RITUAL ABUSE.

(The following is "A Personal Perspective" by a counselor who has been working with adult survivors who were ritually abused as children. The Editor asked her to put some pertinent observations down in writing so they could be shared with FILE 18 NEWSLETTER readers. This is not intended to be an exhaustive study of ritualized abuse cases, but rather a continuation of training material to keep the 'worst case scenario of satanic crimes' before you.)

A definition of the ADULT SURVIVOR is one who was: a.) born into satan worship or black witchcraft; b.) reared as a child (obtained by whatever means) by a coven during the formative ages of 0-6 yrs.; or, c.) a voluntary member of a coven.

When screening persons as potential survivors, consider the following lists of characteristics. Two or more should be verifiable in the legitimate adult survivor: a.) migraine headaches, b.) abdominal pain, c.) eating disorders, d.) overweight, e.) liver or adrenal malfunctions, f.) vaginal and/or rectal scarring, g.) collapsed rectal wall, h.) digestive tract irregularity, i.) missing uterus or sterilized, j.) blood chemistry imbalance, k.) right-side epilepsy, l.) urinary tract infections, m.) nipples missing, or, n.) preference for soft drinks. In addition to the physical characteristics, there are also psychological characteristics: a.) low self-esteem, d.) guilt their deity to respond or believing that they themselves have all the power that is necessary. Such an approach is prideful to say the least. In fact, the desire to be God is quite literally the oldest sin in the book.

Romans 1:18-32 is useful in understanding the predicament of occultists in their disregard of God and His principles. Verses 19 and 20 tell us that God's nature and attributes can be seen through creation; in fact, God makes sure that this is so. However, as verse 25 says, the ungodly exchange God's truth for a lie, and we worship the creation rather than the Creator. Witches in their worship of nature and cosmic forces and satanists in their worship of self are equally guilty. As a result of turning away from God, their hearts turn to evil and their minds become futile. The Witches' pyramid is actually a trap.

In the garden the serpent promised Eve that she and Adam could become like God, having a knowledge of good and evil. This was obviously a lie, we have not become more like God, but less so. We may have a degree of knowledge about evil, but we have lost the knowledge of Good. One of the main reasons that God gave the law to Moses was to restore some of this knowledge, and Jesus came to fulfill that law and write it on our hearts. (Hebrews 8:10). Those who would strive to be God, either directly in the case of a satanist or indirectly in the case of a witch, make the same mistake.

A witch or satanist trusts in his/her own ability to visualize the magical goal. Since we are not infinite like God is, this means that the imagination is limited. The magician is also forced to trust in his/her own power, which is obviously finite also. Since they believe that power shared is power lost, much of their magical activity is spent in defensive magic or in trying not to give off energies of one kind or another. As Christians we have access to the ultimate power source in God. We need not depend on our own ability to visualize, nor does our faith need to be in ourselves. We do not have to worry about the amount of power we have; there is plenty to go around. In fact, Paul could even boast about his weaknesses, saying "My (God's) grace is sufficient for you, for power is perfected in weakness." (II Corinthians 12:9-10).

Certainly there is much more that could be said about magic, witchcraft, and satanism. However, even this brief examination clearly shows that Christians have the victory through Christ. Truly we can say with the Apostle John that "greater is He who is in you than he who is in the world." (I John 4:4).

Mike Warnke has pledged his staff and resources to aid law enforcement in any way they can. He has already proven to be an able resource at cult/occult crime scenes; members of his staff have testified as expert witnesses concerning occult crime motivations. Our thanks to Warke Ministries for this two-part article. You can personally contact them and get on their mailing list by writing to Warke Ministries, Box 1075, Danville, Ky., 40422. Their 24-hour hotline number is 1-800-345-0045.

Editor's Note: My greatest misgiving about working on FILE 18 is that we will give you just enough information to be dangerous--to yourselves. Occult crimes and ritual activities carry very real, VERY HEAVY spiritual implications along with the physical ones. We expect that you noble, dedicated officers will wade right into the middle of such investigations without a selfish thought. However, you may be battling with forces which are impervious to your wrist-twists, your batons, or your service firearms--and they may destroy you. These things are unseen to most of us, probably scoffed at or written off as Hollywood/overactive imaginations by the majority. But, in our natural state we are helpless to defend against unseen enemies; spiritual training and spiritually effective tools are required.

If you are apprehensive about where you would stand personally in a face-to-face confrontation with ancient evil, give Mike Warnke a call...ask the call-taker how you can be assured of victory. Or call or write to the Editor--we'll get you the answers you need.

9. OCCULT-RELATED CRIME INVESTIGATIVE TOOLS.

Somewhere in this Newsletter is a one-page flyer by David W. Balsiger and Jack Roper (those of you who know a real detective or trained observer, ask for help in finding it...Hint: It's a different color than the rest of the newsletter!) Dave and Jack have independently engaged in years of research into cult/occult issues, activities, and practitioners. Both have proven themselves to be organized, informative, helpful, and agreeable resources. The Editor highly recommends either or both men if you are trying to compile information or track a movement or occultic group.

In compensation for our inclusion of this 'advertisement' in the FILE 18 NEWSLETTER, Dave and Jack have donated a significant amount of resource literature which will eventually find its way into your hands--either by direct mail or as parts of this publication. The prime tenet of FILE 18 is to "Get the Info. Out To You," so you can apply it, build on it, and network together locally and regionally. Roper's and Balsiger's 'tools' will be tremendous helps to you. Please take advantage of them.

9. PAGAN/MAGICKAL COMPUTER BULLETIN BOARD SYSTEMS.

How many of you can honestly say that your department has assigned even one person to actively contact and monitor the various computer Bulletin Board Systems (BBS) available to the paedophile, the pornographer, or the occultist. Perhaps some of you do a little 'hacking' at home and would like to fool around to see what you can come up with. The following information came from an unnamed source, but is believed to be accurate. These BBS's were known to have been carrying on discussions pertinent to paganism, magick, freethought, and liberal religion as of January, 1987.

"The Magick Conference, a system of messages echoed between a growing number of BBS's using Fido BBS software running on IBM PCs and DEC's throughout the USA, via electronic mail sent to other boards in the dead of the night via Ma Bell. Soon to be updated by a more sophisticated software system called Opus with increased security and advanced features. Some of the principal nodes thru which various boards route their messages are:

WEIRDBASE ST. LOUIS, MO. 314-389-9973.

 TONY'S CORNER, Warren, Mi., JIJ-754-1131, 24 hr., 300/1200/2400.
 THE GAME BOARD, Minneapolis, Mn., 612-822-1968, 24 hr., 300/1200/2400.

"Pido systems are well protected against abusive obscene callers. If any reader of this file has bad intentions towards them, be forewarned, you will NOT be tolerated, and TWITTER to no user status promptly."

"Predominantly Pagan Boards include:
 EARTHRITE CA, 415-631-9496. Oldest pagan BBS; good files; runs under archaic CP/M and VERY slow-using 300 baud. Hollywood, Ca., small board with a soap for whom Turbo Lightning was invented (grin), also running CP/M, but with some good material. Limited access. 818-982-0713."

"This is by NO means a comprehensive list; many pagan BBS come and go. If you know of other active boards please leave a message for me via Easyplex and I'll update this list to make it as useful and current as humanity possible... (Signed) Barb CIS # 73047, 630."

10. UNICORNS--AN OCCULT SYMBOL

Although they are probably not an overt 'crime causer', the Editor gets many inquiries about unicorns. (Rumor has it that Idaho Fish and Game sells Unicorn Tags to some--mostly California--hunters!) The unicorn in one form or another has been resilient throughout various cultures. Today, we see it depicted as a beautiful silver horse-type creature sporting a tapered horn. However, according to MEDIA SPOTLIGHT's article, (THE UNICORN: PABLED BEAST OF MYTH AND MAGIC, 1986, Box 1288, Costa Mesa, CA, 92628-1288,) it has been "...variously described as an ox, bull, goat, bull, antelope, wild ass, horse, rhinoceros,...serpent and...fish... (sometimes a combination of many of these...)" Some believe that since the unicorn is mentioned in modern BIBLES, it must certainly be real. However, MEDIA SPOTLIGHT'S Albert James Dager notes that the original language of the BIBLE was mistranslated between Hebrew and Greek in the Third Century. "Finding several different references to an animal called the 're'em', the Jewish scholars were puzzled...No one was sure exactly what kind of an animal it was, although from its descriptions they knew it was large, fierce, and horned...They... (decided) to use the term 'monoceros', later Latinized into 'unicorn'." Controversy raged for centuries, but the unicorn was finally "...identified as as the giant aurochs, a species of wild buffalo that became extinct...around 300 B.C...."

"...From ancient times, the British people worshiped nature, relying heavily upon the favor of their gods for good fortune...the unicorn, (represented) the moon...and played a significant part in the prevalent sun-worship of the British people. In British mythology, the sun was represented as a lion, the moon as a unicorn. This myth is an integral part of British heraldry..." Note the Royal Arms of England featuring the solar Lion and the Lunar Unicorn in conflict.

Middle Ages moral tales held that a unicorn could only be captured by a virgin seated alone in the forest under a tree. "...Details vary, vividly, from text to text; in some the unicorn indulges in familiarities remarkable unsuited to Virginal virtue, and in others the virgin is a boy in disguise..." Christianity forced these erotic myths into its belief systems, casting the virgin ^{as} the Mother of God, and the unicorn...Christian...". Similarly, the single horn, the huntsman, the King's Palace, etc., all assumed religious significance, if somewhat farfetched.

Alchemists believed in the "...therapeutic qualities of its horn..." such as for antidotes to poisons. Pagans lore associated the moon with the female aspect of creation, yet the unicorn was traditionally male. "...This poses no problem to those versed in the eastern mystical concept of the yin and the yang, which views everything in nature as intrinsically linked together..." (that is, Good has its bad side and bad has its good side.) Occult philosophies hold the intermingling of male/female traits, a confusion of roles, an impersonalization of a personal god, etc. Consistently, the unicorn has been considered as a symbol of "...power and sexual prowess..." and/or "...gentleness and purity..." It is a strange mixture of opposites...Carl Jung in his book, PSYCHOLOGY AND ALCHEMY...concluded that this relationship is symbolized by many variants embracing single-horned animals, both real and mythical... "from one point of view it is penetrating in shape, and therefore active and masculine in significance, and from the other, it is shaped like a receptacle, which is feminine in meaning."

The New Age Movement has adopted it as a symbol. This movement is founded on strong eastern mysticism footings, encompassing "...the women's liberation and gay rights movements...worship of nature...casting off of Biblical morality... (re-adoption) of witchcraft techniques... (including) occult healing, holism, visualisation, regression, rebirthing, etc... The androgynous unicorn has been merely a foreshadowing of the uni-sex mentality... (and)...acceptance of the homosexual and lesbian lifestyles... Thus we see that the unicorn is, in reality, the symbol of a future conqueror (Horus--believed by New Agers to personify the world conqueror overcoming by Gentility) who will bring peace to the earth. Who is this but the anti-Christ (the little horn that rises in the midst of the ten horns in Daniel 7:8) for whom the world waits, unaware of his true nature?..."

I hope this glimpse at one of MEDIA SPOTLIGHT's research articles will give you a flavor of the accuracy and documentation the author incorporates into his topics. You can write to this organization for a list of available articles which cover a variety of cult/occult topics. Ask for a free sample to review.

11. LOCAL NOTES--NATIONWIDE.
 A. ARVADA, CO., DET. WALT PARSONS notes that the symbol for the Ananda Marga Worldwide is a six-pointed star with a small swastika in the lower center of the interior hexagon. The Ananda Marga has a HQ in the Denver area and in Toronto, Canada. The worldwide leader R.P. Sakar is in jail in India. "Crimson Dawn," the group's Guildbook... calls for seeing the blood of American cops to run in the street... Jim McCarthy, Sanctuary Institute, Boulder, Co., teaches that the Ananda Marga is militant and they believe members are the only people qualified to manage nuclear weapons...the problem is they don't have them, want them, and will probably try to get ours. Members wear necklaces with the star logo. Their full uniform is orange (or saffron) turbans, pantaloons, and shirts.

B. SAN JOSE, CA., STEVE BELECKY, sent two articles from the SAN JOSE MERCURY NEWS. An Anglican priest in Australia exorcised demons from a small-town jail in Yarrabah with the help of the nation's only Aboriginal Anglican Bishop. The local police approved after many of the town's inhabitants said that evil spirits had caused suicides in the jail.

A call-in teen party line in San Francisco promoted an upcoming conference for satanists, occultist, and other occultists. H. WEST OSSIPEE, NH. STATE POLICE, TPR. ED GIROUX, noted that THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SUNDAY NEWS, Sept. 27, 1987, carried an article about a witchcraft-like ritual used by two women to try to 'exorcise' demons out of Ossipee House, a home for the retarded, in Center Ossipee. The two women, employees of the home, were censured by the state director of mental health for imposing their religious views ("white witchcraft") on the residents of the center. The 'white witches', used their craft to try to rid the house of the evil brought in by a temporary male laborer earlier in the summer. The man made statements indicating that he wanted to do some type of witchcraft rituals in the house. He generally acted weird and many unexplained phenomena occurred around him. These things prompted the two women to ...sprinkle herbs on all the window sills in the home. They sprayed some form of fluid through the home. They put papers... (containing the Square of Saturn, wrapped in red yarn with a clove of garlic attached)... in each of the client's rooms, hidden in inconspicuous places. Papers were placed over doorways and behind a picture hanging in the dining room. They carried on a verbal ritual while placing the above-mentioned materials..." A complaint letter from another employee initiated the investigation.

I. BAKERSFIELD CALIFORNIA, Oct. 1, 1986, linking animal killings to satanism. Mutilated lambs and bowls of blood were found near a Bakersfield-area ritual altar site last year. Disemboweled sheep were found more recently, as was a tortured and dying dog. Humane Society officers are investigating. The hearts, eyes, and other body parts were removed from the lambs, "...definitely not done by marauding dogs..."

CALIFORNIA columnist Thomas Elias drew the conclusion on Sept. 8, 1986, that satanism was thriving in California. He listed numerous examples of cult-motivation crimes currently under investigation. Elias noted that a recent meeting of Detectives from seven Western states agreed "...[to]... deny it [Satanism] as a factor in crimes in the hope of discouraging copycats. Consistent with that, police and prosecutors are hesitant to label devil-worship as a motive behind any crime..." The Editor strongly disagrees with that conclusion. Satanists and 'wannabe's' know exactly what their lusts and interests are...they'll commit crimes regardless of official police pronouncements. After all, they hold the police in the utmost contempt. We don't want to be premature, but when the facts are in, let's call it like it is in media reports; just make sure you can corroborate what you say or imply.

D. ALBUQUERQUE, NM, PD. SGT. PAUL JASLER found the following classified ad. in the newspaper: "...Attention: Alchemists, witches, wizards, occultists, and parapsychologists, party every Sunday, Count Hurle Pellicancy, POB 592, Alb., NM, 87102."

He also alerted the Editor to the practice of 'Curanderism' which was once seen as a part of Spanish Culture and as dealing with superstition. Curanderism uses herbs, rituals, and summoning of spirits to heal the sick. It is actively employed by the New Mexico Coalition of Sexual Assault Programs, Inc. as a technique for treating the victims of sexual assault. Boy, just what a rape or molestation victim needs, a demonic 'friend' to help out! This technique is apparently gaining professional recognition in the area, but should be recognized for what it is.

E. DECATUR, GA. SHERIFF'S ASSOC.). Donna Burns, THE ATLANTA JOURNAL reported on Sept. 6, 1987, that Jurors recommended life imprisonment without parole for 19 year old Cayce Moore. He was convicted in the murder of a Ragland convenience store clerk who attorneys said was killed during a fantasy game. Moore and his co-defendants, Scott Davis, 19, and Chris White, 16, were heavily involved in the role-playing games of "Dungeons and Dragons" and "Top Secret" when they robbed the convenience store where Mrs. Macon worked. "Top Secret" was shot to death during the robbery. (Score one more for the 'harmless' fantasy role playing games!)

F. FRANKLIN PARK, ILL. PD. DET. BRUCE WALSTAD, found a flyer for the "Witches League For Public Awareness," Box 8736, Salem, Mass., 01971-8736. In part, "...[it]... is an anti-defamation organization... founded in Salem in May of 1987 by Laurie Cabot, the "Official Witch of Salem" of Mass. "...[to]... inform the public about what Witches do and do not do..." A list of ten Do's and Don't's of Witches is interesting, such as the term 'warlock' which does not mean a male witch. A male witch is a 'witch'; a witches also prefer modern transportation to broomstick travel, citing convenience and comfort!

I. ADAM WALSH CHILD RESOURCE CENTER. Gary Eppler has volunteered the ADAM WALSH CHILD RESOURCE CENTER. Gary Eppler has volunteered the A.W.C.R.C. to act as a clearing house in the Southern California area concerning any calls regarding abduction and/or abuse by cults of children when the victims feel reluctant to report to the proper authorities. The Center is dedicated to reducing the problems of child abuse, child neglect, child exploitation, and missing children. The Center estimates that over one million children are missing in the U.S. each year. Most are runaways and return home. Some are taken by non-custodial parents. Some are thrown away. The remainder are kidnapped by strangers. The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children in Washington, D.C., states that the children at greatest risk of stranger abduction are between the ages of 11 and 15. The lures used most often were: assistance for directions, promises of gifts, and rides. 36% of runaway run from physical or sexual abuse, from other severe long term problems. Under-reporting by the police and varying criteria make missing child statistics unreliable. However, it doesn't take a statistician to understand that a kid on the street in a strange city is 'fresh meat' to any number of perverts and cultists. Some are never heard from again.

15. MASSACRE OF INNOCENCE VIDEOTAPE.
Last issue we requested information on this tape concerning abortion in America and the possible link to ancient witchcraft and the occult. C.C.I.N., Inc., has subsequently obtained a copy of the tape and have reviewed it. The first third of the 80 minute VHS tape deals with modern, clinical techniques and rationale for abortions. It is graphic and shows actual operations and the dismembered parts of aborted babies...not for young audiences! The final 2/3 places abortion, or the sacrifice of children before idols (such as of self, convenience, etc.) in a well-researched Biblical and historical perspective. The logic and visual treatment are compelling. The tape appears to be worthwhile at $40. Contact America, Box 37777, Washington, D.C., 20013, 800-952-2962. In is the first discussion about a possible witchcraft-abortion linkage of which we have become aware, and, of course, it comes from a strong anti-abortion stance.

15. SANTERIA CHURCH RESTRICTED FROM ANIMAL SACRIFICES.
The ORLANDO SENTINEL, August 15, 1987, carried an article about state restrictions on Santeria churches wanting to incorporate ritual sacrifices of animals in worship services. These practices are integral to their beliefs, but violate cruelty statutes and the public's capacity to accept. "...With deep roots in the Caribbean and Latin America, Santeria is widespread in Dade County, which is 43 percent Hispanic. Officials estimate more than 50,000 people dabble in the religion in Dade, and that 10,000 are serious followers..."

"...Animal carcasses routinely are found under trees at Dade County cemeteries, on doorsteps, or at crime scenes. They are meant as offerings to gods... (Ernesto Pichardo)...(founder of an open Santeria Church in Hialeah called the Church of Lukumi Babalu Aye)...is intent on institutionalizing Santeria and on practicing it openly in a designated chapel..."Once you institutionalize you can begin to recognize or minimize or do away with the problems occurring in the community..." (Pichardo said.)"

The Florida Attorney General has held that animal sacrifices are unlawful, however. A FLORIDA TODAY article on July 14, 1987, reported from Tallahassee that the advisory opinion requested by the Hialeah City Council stated, in part: "...laws may not restrict religious beliefs, (but) religious practices may be subject to governmental regulation under certain circumstances..." These include cases where the practices "...pose a serious threat to the health, safety, and welfare of...citizens..." Florida state law prohibits sacrificial animal slaughter except for the primary purpose of food consumption, such as kosher slaughtering, done humanely for the purpose of consumption.

On August 17, 1987, the Hialeah Santeria church held its first open service, but without animal sacrifices. Lawsuits against the state are contemplated. It is almost certain that animal sacrifices still remain a common practice in the area, but at night or behind closed doors, instead of in an open meeting place. Thanks to Lt. C.E. Leek, Palm Bay PD, for the articles.

SUMMIT OR RITUALISTIC CRIME IN TODAY'S SOCIETY. More than a hundred persons attended a seminar with this title at the Ft. Collins, Colo., Holiday Inn, from September 9-12. For many—was represented law enforcement from across the U.S., clinicians, social workers, therapists, clergy, and parent groups—words still fail to accurately describe the intensity or perspective-changing content of the 3-½ days in Ft. Collins. The eyes of many participants were opened to a previously unknown set of crime's causal factors which made them rethink traditional approaches to police investigations. Everyone was forced to confront his or her personal belief system in light of the startling, sometimes shocking, facts presented. To summarize the seminar is to say that it must be the beginning.

The bulk of this edition of the FILE 10 NEWSLETTER is devoted to the material presented by the speakers. Transcribed notes from the seminar are being completed for those who could not attend.

1. SPEAKER: SANDI CALLANT, S.F.P.D. INTELLIGENCE — "The world of the occult is a phenomena most people think only occurred in the past. It is difficult to accept in the middle of today's technology. The human being does not always develop to the same degree as machinery; some individuals and groups have not developed the civilized veneer (such as Theodore Bundy, John Wayne Gacy, Charles Manson, etc.) Don't assume that only isolated cases exist. Regardless of your belief system, there are people who believe in satanism and victimize others accordingly."

Sandi gave a brief historical overview which included the following overlapping spheres of occultic belief: 1) Paganism; 2) Witchcraft; and 3) Satanism. Each contains some elements of belief and ritual found in the others, as well as separate, distinct traits.

1) PAGANISM: Heathens or pagans—according to the Old Testament of the BIBLE—were peoples who did not believe in Jehovah. Instead, they worshipped many gods in nature, such as the Earth Mother who they believed ruled the universe. There are many, varied traditions within paganism, similar to 'denominations' within the traditional church. The traditions have structured organizations, including priests, priestesses, witches, and warlocks...which are commonly-used terms, not specific to paganism. The study and worship of natural forces, causes, effects, and phenomena rank highly among pagans, who attempt to control, influence, or placate them through painstaking ritual observances.

2) WITCHCRAFT: Persons involved in witchcraft are more deeply involved than are pagans, but there are cross-over similarities between them. In both traditions, behavior is highly individualized. Both are participative religions involving close-knit, loyal groups.

Witches worship the 'Horned God' (Sun God) and the Moon Goddess. Much inspiration comes through folklore and mythology. Within this tradition are groups which call themselves 'white witches'—those using magic for so-called 'good' purposes only; 'gray witches'—those who do a combination of 'good' and 'bad' magic; and 'black witches'—those exclusively practicing magic for evil purposes. 'Black witches' are most likely to be involved in satanism. Sorcery is the evil practice of magic. Please note this differentiation: by definition, "All satanists were/are sorcerers, but not all sorcerers were/are satanists."

3) SATANISM: This tradition was formalized in the 3rd century A.D. in direct opposition to Christianity. Satanism is a study in the dynamics of counter-religion, i.e. Light vs. Dark aspects of religious belief. Satanism could not exist without Christianity: "You can't have bad without good."

Satanism is the worship of the Devil and of one's self. It is self-centered and self-gratifying. "Satan's goal is to defeat God's plan of grace, to establish a kingdom of evil to ruin man. Satan needs man alive to do his work for him, that is to destroy the good in and good spirit of mankind. Man must be predisposed to doing evil; Satan cannot absolutely overwhelm a good person to do evil."

Why do people get involved in active Satanism? Many are drawn by the quest for power and control. There are seemingly no rules or laws in satanism, the person is able to justify/rationalize many strange things, and he can fulfill abhorrent urges.

Sandi identified three types of Satanic believers: A) Traditional, organized bodies of believers which are structured, secret. Membership is often obtained through family generations and recruitment rarely occurs among strangers. There are complex degree structures with time limits, congregational authority, rituals and practices which may be unique to various groups, and members who are prominent in the community.

B) Dabblers: These self-styled satanists mold pure satanic activities into other bizarre behaviors. They are not organized in the deep traditions of the traditionalists. They take bits and pieces from many sources and tend to use religion to justify weird behavior. Richard Ramirez who allegedly killed at least 16 in California, was a self-styled satanist who didn't want to accept responsibility for his own actions, therefore transferred his guilt to Satan. Sandi Gallant cited the 1985 Summer Solstice murder of a transient in San Francisco by a homosexual group which was into auto-masochism. The leader read about satanic worship, formed his own group, decided on human sacrifice, picked up a transient male who was used for sex acts with the group and kept in a cage, performed a ritual ceremony with the victim as the center attraction, slashed his throat, carved a pentagram in his body and performed massive sexual mutilation. One week later this same scene was repeated using a second derelict as an intended victim. Seeking a 'bigger thrill', the leader decided to include members of other groups with similar perverted interests, but word leaked out through an informant who also helped the victim to escape. It was such a bizarre situation that investigators weren't aware of what to include in their search warrant, such as the ritual paraphernalia, etc.

C) Youth Sub-Culture: This group actually includes people from around 8 yrs through early 20's. Youth often become devil worshippers through external influencing factors, including a general interest in the occult, heavy metal music and themes, fantasy role-playing, peer pressure, or as a lark, but soon learn that they are trapped by fear of discovery and guilt feelings.

Sandi noted that ritualized abuse of children is often portrayed as a 'new phenomenon', but it is not. It has occurred for thousands of years in many cultures. All ritualized abuse cases are not directly satanic, even though they may be strange and extremely perverted in nature. Investigators should be very cautious about assigning a 'satanic' label until they have verified such involvement. Since 1982, many ritualized abuse cases have surfaced all across the United States. Case histories from unrelated victims and suspects in different localities at various times point out striking similarities in the methodology of ritualized abusers.

Ritualized abusers are intentional abusers. They often use religion to justify their own behavior. Ritualized abuse (RA) cases involve multiple suspects and multiple victims. It is necessary to make a differentiation between ritualized and traditional abuse (TA) cases. If you miss the cues in RA vs. TA cases, you will make an incomplete investigation and leave multiple perpetrators and victims unidentified.

RA cases often involve the following: Pre-school aged victims; day-care or out-of-the-home custody settings; female victims involved in mock marriage ceremonies to male adults who might be wearing goat's heads or masks; sexual activities following the ceremony; video-taping; wearing of robes in addition to masks; inclusion of candles, pentagrams, crosses, sacrifices; drinking animal or human blood; Ingesting urine or feces; sacrifices of animals or humans; and many more things which sound so bizarre on the surface that the investigator and parents tend to discount such statements as imagination or hallucinations.

A common problem is encountered in the time delay (sometimes 1-2 years) in reporting and the young age of the victims. It has taken significant time for parents, therapists, and cops to recognize the RA pattern for what it is. Documentation has been inadequate in many cases because the investigators were naive to the realities of RA cases.

RA suspects place a positive value on harming the victims; their abuse is to accomplish goals OTHER THAN gratification of perverted sexual desires, i.e. to please Satan and serve the purposes of organized satanic worship groups. RA suspects are sometimes parents, but have also been daycare employees/operators, clergymen, teachers, etc. Locations can be anywhere: homes, schools, daycare centers, abandoned buildings, mortuaries, and cemetaries. Drugs, fear, and guilt are used to induce co-operation and prevent disclosure. The detailed and premeditated methods over long periods of time indicate a definite plan to destroy everything positive, good, and innocent in the victim.

Imagine your jurisdiction being faced with an overwhelming RA case such as the McMartin Preschool case in California. Your agency's resources and budget would be overwhelmed with little notice; the strategic and political implications would be awesome. How would you begin? Sandi suggested the following minimum guidelines for investigation:

1. DOCUMENT each bit of information as soon as you receive it. Set up a retrieval system.
2. DEFINE ROLES of all investigative participants, including investigators, therapists, clinicians, social service workers, etc., across starting. Don't muddy the waters and confuse role responsibilities.
3. TAPE every interview (audio and/or video) involving victim sessions with anyone in #2 (above).
4. APPOINT prosecuting attorney in the early stages of the case and work with his guidance.
5. MAINTAIN CONFIDENTIALITY on the entire case until ALL suspects are identified.
6. ASSUME that all daycare children are victims and all employees are suspects until you narrow the scope through investigation.
7. KEEP investigative teams the same to maintain rapport among the investigators throughout the investigation.
8. APPOINT a liaison officer to work with the parents. Their total support and co-operation is essential.
9. APPOINT a media liaison. Carefully control what is released and when.
10. USE narrative interview without leading questions.
11. DO extensive background checks on all suspects, victims, and custodians of victims.
12. SERVE SEARCH MESSAGES as soon as possible after sufficient P/C exists.
13. IDENTIFY RA networks, family ties, links with organized groups.
14. DIFFERENTIATE between actual facts and illusion or 'magic' which may alter the perception of witnesses and victims.
15. TRACE sources for dead bodies and human flesh, such as hospitals, clinics, and mortuaries. (Finding remains is often difficult, but you may discover necklaces made from babies' finger bones, candles made from rendered human fat, ashes, or bags filled with bones and fragments.)

2. SPEAKER: KEN WOODEN: VIOLENT CRIMES AGAINST CHILDREN

Ken used the Jim Jones/People's Temple case as a 'blueprint of cults.' By understanding how this occurred, police will understand the basic mechanisms of most other destructive cults. Ken was an investigative reporter who delved into the Jonestown massacre and how it was orchestrated. His book "The Children of Jonestown" exposes the carefully planned, intelligently organized, and totally perverted growth of the People's Temple as orchestrated by Jim Jones.

Jones' biggest obstacle in obtaining total control over his followers was the family unit. He set out to destroy it by:

1. Separation of children from their parents—initially via subtle means.
2. Depersonalization of parent-child relationships—call parents by name, not 'Mom' or 'Dad'.
3. Transfer of legal guardianship of children to himself.
4. Physical separation of children from parents.

Jones' next attack was upon marriage relationships. He was sexually active with everyone in the church and used the 'club' of sex as a weapon to smash decent marital bonds. He accomplished this under the guise of 'oneness' in the church. During counseling sessions, he had sex with the wife in the husband's presence and sodomized the husband in front of the wife.

He attacked individual independence by acquiring all the wealth of the followers. All property was liquidated and given to Jones who accumulated $27 million ($1.4 million of which was in his Swiss accounts.) When he had destroyed family, marital and financial structure, he brought his following under one roof to facilitate total brainwashing bombardment. There, he controlled food and sleep habits, liberally supplying thorazine. He blackmailed people by getting them to share their sexual fantasies with him.

Jones appealed to the right and the left on the political scene, both Republicans and Democrats. He supplied workers and needs, making friends in influential places. He received guns and arms from John Birchers. He supported gays on the liberal left. Jim Jones ascertained the sexual fantasies of key political figures on the local and national scenes, then supplied the wherewithall for them to engage in their fantasies. Of course, he video-taped the goings-on and thereafter had many powerful figures in his pocket. Those he could not compromise, he openly feared to render them ineffective.

A handpicked Jones supporter was placed in the prosecuting attorney's office, assigned to intercept and divert every inquiry about the People's Temple. This pipeline directly contributed to the death of two former Jones followers (Jeanne and Al Mills) who were attempting to disclose, indicting information about Jones and the People's Temple.

When Jones moved his operation to San Francisco, he continued to build his operation through intelligence gathering, infiltration, and control. Critics of the People's Temple were threatened, coerced, and killed. At the height of his power, he had the ear of many influential figures. He further expanded his aura of control by calculated myth-building. Yet, as extraordinary as his empire became, he was a 'little fish' by worldwide cult standards.

At the end, in Guyana, Jones could only derive sexual pleasure by having sex with a goat to the amplified sound of tortured children's screams. His own depravity destroyed him along with hundreds of deceived followers—most of whom were murder victims, not suicides.

The lesson to learn from Johnstown is that satan-inspired cults are tightly plugged-in to everything we are doing. They deal in POWER and DEPORTATION, using both in any twisted way necessary to gain their ends. Jim Jones is quoted as saying to detractors inside his group, "I don't care who you talk to (police, press, politicians), what we're doing here is so bizarre no one will believe you!"

At the end, 300 children were shipped to Jones' "agricultural community" (before the adults) in Guyana. The government of Guyana was too slow in questioning this because Jones' political favors and blackmail had short-circuited all official inquiries. When the adults arrived, all passports were taken away. Those who dissented still were publically punished —their children were forced to perform oral sex on the oldest man in the community in front of hundreds of witnesses. Jones enforced total silence in the jungle.

The teenagers' bitter-rebellion-made them the hardest to control. Their bodies were found with hypodermic needles still protruding. Only forty-Jones' fanatic personal guard-willingly committed suicide.

Cults can never destroy STRONG FAMILY. Where a traditional family unit does not exist, just a single strong source of LOVE constitutes the family bond.

Among the attacks we must recognize are those which come directly against the laws which protect us. Sophisticated lobbying techniques are making changes in state laws across the nation which either do away with statutory protections for child victims or MAKE THE PENALTIES SO MEAN THAT NO JUDGE WOULD EVER IMPOSE THEM! Some lobbying groups include: The New Cupid Society, North American Neo-Boy Love Association, Pedophile Information Exchange (U.S.), Childhood Sensuality Circle, P.A.M. (Netherlands), Young Lust, Kids Unlimited, and Kids Who Swing. Computer bulletin boards are used to pass pedophile information; the tactics are aggressively involved in high-tech tools and techniques. They are generally so far ahead of law enforcement and government tracing agencies that comparison is embarrassing.

The Howard Nichols Society has published a book entitled, "How to Have Sex With Children". This graphic and 'informative' work was written on the Austin (Tex.) Public School System word processor. An I-rated child's coloring book with a Crayola motif is quickly available @ $3.25.

Police are often hamstrung with out-dated data on sexual abuse of children, treat it as a low priority crime, and experience low conviction/incarceration rates, especially when defense attorneys tell clients to show remorse and they will get off light.

ZEMBA: Ken gave the following startling facts:

1. Increase in the incidence of gonorrhoea of the throat and anal canal in children under 5 yrs in California.
2. Increases in threats of death and dismemberment to kids who disclose sexual abuse.
3. Only 30% of sexual molestation cases are incest, not 80% as sometimes reported.
4. Although some abuse cases are due to the 'dog-in-heat-syndrome', over 50% go beyond incest into ritualized (satanic-type) abuse by a family member.
5. Reports of photography during abuse are alarmingly high. Porn collectors keep collecting (no collector's collection is ever complete). Blackmail and guilt are common techniques. Porn is used to advertise the kids in some cases.

Relating organized abuse to 21 cases, Ken noted the following characteristics to look for in an investigation:

1. Mind Control Techniques
 - A. Isolation—closets, boxes, cages, refrigerators, buried in the sand.
 - B. Drugs—ingested, injected, or as eyedrops used to dull sensitivity, cognition, resistance; may be called 'Magic Punch', etc.; give victim a urine test.
 - C. Conformity—to rules, desires of suspects.
 - D. Physical Torture—toothpicks, needles, ticks inserted into orifices, wrist pain, tie no children, leave no marks.
 - E. Psychological Torture—killing pets, photographs, threats against self, family, etc.
2. Programmed Destruction
 - A. Self-esteem-application and ingestion of excrement/urine, lick shoes of suspects, demeaning acts.
 - B. Family Values—depict parents as sex objects, told to have sex with parents, discuss sex acts, expose kids to 'taboo topics' forbidden in the home.
 - C. Childhood Heroes—instill that parents, siblings, Jesus, Santa Claus, Easter Bunny would not love them, would be ashamed of them, if they told what occurred.

D. Religion/Patriotism—cock marriages in churches followed by sex, defecate on the Bible, raped with pole holding American Flag, taught to reject outside sources of control and guidance, i.e. no family, no religion, no nationality.

TIP-OFF'S for parents and Investigators who may observe a RA victim:

1. Crying for no apparent reason.
2. Fear of adults and authority figures.
3. Nightmares.
4. Appetite changes.
5. Acting out behavior not common for their age or experience.
6. Strange language forms.
7. Drawings of strange signs or symbols.
8. Extreme lethargy (such as drug induced).
9. Questions about bizarre things, i.e. eating dead bodies, request for sex with parents, etc.
10. Mention of 'silver umbrellas'. These are photographers light diffusing umbrellas...a common element.
11. Irrational response to common terms. These may be trigger words used to instill fear, control, or desired responses. 'Popsicle' may mean frozen penis or stick used to abuse the child.
12. Uncontrolled toilet habits.

(Ken Wooden authored a book entitled, "Sleeping in the Playtime of Others" which gives further insight.)

RITUALIZED ABUSE DEFINITION: "A bizarre, systematic and continuing mental, physical, and sexual abuse of children for the purpose of implanting evil and giving a form of sacrifice to a force or deity."

3. SPEAKER: PAT PULLING, D.A.D.D., INC.

Material concerning Fantasy Role Playing Games has been presented in past editions of the File 18 Newsletter. Facts about Dungeons and Dragons were presented as exemplars of other FRPG games. D&D incorporates detailed, factual historical material about sorcery, witchcraft, demonism, occultic rituals, diabolies, rites, and forces into a mental modalizing format. The tie-ins to direct occult/occultic involvement are very strong. D&D is the prototype for all other role-playing games. As with understanding of the Jonestown phenomenon, you must understand D&D to grasp the methodology of other FRPG games. D&D fosters a love of violence, quest for power, and love of sadism.

FRPG games such as D&D employ brainwashing techniques (which are familiar to you by now.)

1. Fear—via spells and mental imaging about fearfilled, emotional scenes, and threats to survival of FRPG characters.
2. Isolation—psychological removal from traditional support structures—family, church, etc.—into an imaginary world. Physical isolation due to time-consuming play activities usually outside the family atmosphere.
3. Physical Torture and Killing—images in the mind are almost as real as actual experiences. Focus of the games is upon killing and torture for power, acquisition of wealth, and survival of characters.
4. Destruction of Family Values—Dungeon Master (DM) demands total loyalty, control, and allegiance.
5. Situational Ethics—any act can be justified in the mind of the player, therefore, there are no absolutes of good, evil, right, or wrong; no morality other than point morality needed to insure survival and advancement. There are no win-win situations and good forces seldom triumph over evil forces.
6. Religion—values and belief systems are restructured from traditional Judeo-Christian ethics to belief in multiple gods and diabolies. Players align themselves with specific diabolies they select; patron diabolies are strongly urged. These are not fantasy diabolies, but those drawn from ancient religions and beliefs. Only occult gods are included. In addition, defilement is stressed in many ways, such as excrement/urinating to 'defile a font.'

Loss of Self Control—authority over self given to the DM.

Degradation—pain and torture are heavily involved in sadistic, sexual situations which graphically appeal to visceral impulses. Much material is well into pornographic areas and increases delitement of innocence.

occultic symbolism is integral in D&D materials, manuals, and play. Specific spells, incantations, and methodology which are accurately described introduce and school players in all the skills they need to actively participate in satanic and witchcraft activities. Indeed, numerous documented examples prove that impressionable youths have irretrievably crossed the line from reality to fantasy. In their minds they became the dark characters they imagined, they were influenced by the supposedly imaginary forces they conceived, and went on to kill or commit suicide in the real world.

Pat and her co-speaker Rosemary Loyacono, Denver, shared their personal stories which were tragic and similar. Both lost sons to suicide in 1984 as a direct result of the boys' obsession with D&D. It is ironic to note that full-page advertisements introducing young boys to the reels of D&D have appeared in BOY'S LIFE MAGAZINE, a publication of the Boy Scouts of America!

4. SPEAKER: MIKE WARNE & ASSOCIATES, MIKE AND ROSE WARNE MINISTRIES

Mike, who has been quoted a number of times in previous newsletters, presented a perspective of satanism and satanic crime from the point of view of one who is a former satanic high priest of a satanic worship coven. Mike has such material available for use by law enforcement. He is dedicated to being a resource for investigators working occult crime cases. In order to obtain the discussion outline he used in Ft. Collins entitled "The Philosophy and Practice of Satanism", write to Warne Ministries, Box 1075, Danville, KY, 40422.

5. SPEAKER: LAWRENCE PAZDER, Ph.D. - PSYCHIATRIST, VICTORIA, B.C.

Editor's Note: Dr. Pazder co-authored the book "Michelle Remembers" with ritualized abuse survivor Michelle Smith. The insight gained into the deep core of 'orthodox satanism' through the eyes of a witness is perspective-changing and deeply profound. I recommend it to those of you who are serious about learning what you must know; with knowledge also comes responsibility.

Dr. Pazder started his presentations with a caution to police officers who are getting involved in ritualized abuse investigation: "Don't work alone; you'll get screwed one way or another if you do. Take a witness, someone who can support you spiritually and physically." He also noted that the attendees in Fort Collins possessed information to which no other group of professionals in the country were privy. We are coming to realize the scope and extent of the ugly head of satanism which is now becoming visible. There are few answers now, but as more people become aware of the truth, they will come. The police are the last line of defense for the kids—the intended victims.

Caution: "Satanism", the term, has become a catch-all for a lot of different things. As professionals, we should be careful to assign it in the correct perspective and advisedly. The diversity of "satanism" is endless, based upon the number of individuals who form their own ideas about it. Dr. Pazder suggests that we use the term "orthodox satanism" in its proper place.

A correct perspective of the continuum of satanic organization and influence is very important. When you are faced with an investigation, you need to know where the group/suspects fit into the overall scheme so that your inquiries can be directed properly. A useful model for the satanic-Christianity continuum is:

1. Primary or Core Satanism—deep cover individuals and groups closely tied with the personage of satan himself. International core group which secretly seeds and encourages all others. Will not be easily identifiable in traditional police investigations. Uses many levels of front groups and individuals as well as unlimited resources and power manipulation.

2. Secondary Level Satanism—Characterized by very bad devil worship cults which have existed for years almost unrecognized. Seldom will be openly identified. Also use protective levels and fronts to maintain secrecy. Ed. Note: We are starting to see more of the results and victims of this level of activity, perhaps because of a sheer upswing in the activity level. (?)

3. Third Level Satanism—Includes more open activities of witches, covens, occult groups, pagans, Eastern mysticism, and other groups with similar underlying themes. A more popular level with which police will frequently come into contact. The most superficial aspects of this level include the dabblers, self-styled satanists, and a variety of fringe elements which are capable of bizarre and dangerous behavior.

4. Christianity—This represents the "line" drawn between the two realms. Satanism is by definition 'anti-Christian' in every aspect.

Satanism is a belief system which focuses on the power of evil. Contrary to what initiates may believe or be misled into believing, there is no freedom in satanism; freedom of choice is forfeited. The authority base for satanism is directly antipositive to Jesus Christ, the arch-enemy of satan. The spiritual battle is keyed directly into numbers. Satan wins a number in the 'body count' if a person dies before he/she has personally accepted the saving grace offered by Jesus. Satan uses everything at his disposal to acquire dominion over mankind, i.e. material things (materialism), natural forces, powers of science incl. earth sciences, chemistry, numerology, astrology, etc.

Orthodox satanism, i.e. the primary level, is a complex system involving intentional choices. Core satanists are too smart to assign a name to their group, preferring to be nameless, untraceable orchestrators of evil. Their networking is extremely sophisticated, high-tech, and secretive; it demands a life and death commitment. The levels of satanic organization are similar to a drug ring with level upon level of organization and control. Throughout the organization is a common thread. The seemingly disorganized 'helter-skelter' manifestations are merely a facet of the core group's thread (plan). To visualize core satanism, we must retrain our minds to think in opposites, in the reverse, the negative. This is contrary to our normal thought processes and therefore bizarre, but helpful in realizing the mindsets of the adversaries. Always be skeptic when satanism information comes to you. Dig deeper. Verify information. Err on the conservative side. Always look for the unseen persons behind/above the suspect you have identified.

Beliefs affect the behavior of every person. We all live and die for our beliefs and ideals; everything we do is controlled by our personal belief systems. Police Investigators cannot deal with ritualized crimes without dealing with the belief system of the suspects. Although you will probably not agree with the suspect's belief system, you must acknowledge that it exists and controls him. Don't be judgmental. Don't try to convert him. Just listen. The committed satanist believes that evil is the controlling and empowering force of the universe. This is a strong motivating power for his behavior. Remember, try to understand where he is coming from by considering the reverse images from your own belief system. Keep an open mind. Don't listen for predetermined 'clues' or you will miss what is actually being said.

RITUALIZED ABUSE: Dr. Paeder stressed the difference between ritualized abuse and sexual abuse of children. Treating both as sexual abuse will severely damage the ritualistically abused child.

DEFINITION: RITUALIZED ABUSE = REPEATED PHYSICAL, EMOTIONAL, MENTAL, AND SPIRITUAL ASSAULTS... (significantly different from sexual assaults; various levels of child attacked, i.e. 1st. level - physical, 2nd - emotional, 3rd - mental, 4th - spiritual; assaults on each level may be repeated 100-1000 times)... CONSIDERED WITH A SYSTEMATIZED USE OF SYMBOLS, CEREMONIES, AND MANIPULATIONS DESIGNED AND ORCHESTRATED TO ATTAIN MALEVOLENT EFFECTS... (to turn the child against itself, society, and God; to gain access to—not to destroy—the child; to remove the child from everything good, normal, healthy, Godly; to inculcate the child into the primary belief system of satan.)

Short-term motivation for subjecting a child to RA is POWER over the child. The bizarre and abusive rituals are not done for base sexual gratification. It is very difficult to capture a child, to turn him or her against everything that God wants the child to be or become. Ed. Note: Remember, the primary motivation for satanic involvement is power. to obtain power over an innocent creation of God is a significant goal.

Long-term motivation for RA of children is to gain access to that child for use later in Society. The RA, usually completed before age 7, will warp the child totally, making it pre-disposed to accept satan's philosophy later in life, or, to inculcate it into the primary group. RA children are placed as 'satanic time bombs' in society. Their unconscious minds have repressed the abuse, but time triggers are often set in place to cause resurgence of certain recollections at specific times.

At age 13 or 14, some RA'd females are incorporated into groups as 'breeders' for satan's babies. An important goal is to somehow snuff that God-inspired spark of goodness within a child and allow satan to procreate a satanic offspring using her body. Unfortunately for them, satan is an impotent spirit being with no viable seed. The surplus babies from these 'unsuccessful experiments' are used by the groups in other ways. The ages of 28 and 56 are significant; emergence of previously programmed behaviors at these times are seen.

Our courts and laws are not designed to deal with belief systems, but only the superficial physical and some emotional facets of RA crime. In order to start to deal with this problem, we need ritual abuse statutes. As investigators, we are being forced to deal with RA cases before we have the knowledge, skills, and tools required to be effective. We have to educate prosecutors, juries, judges, and each other individually as each case comes to the fore.

...Pazder was adamant about the need for all of us to change our way of thinking about those who have been subjected to ritualized abuse. We must stop thinking about them as VICTIMS and start thinking about them as SURVIVORS. They have been subjected to the most torture, punishment, and manipulation conceivable—but have survived. We need to stand up with them and believe what they are telling us even if we don't understand. The survivors need reassurance, support, patience, and love instead of condemnation, sensitivity, or superficial treatment. Remember: SURVIVORS, not victims.

SAN JOAQUIN VALLEY, CALIFORNIA: Grave desecration—According to the 9/5/86 edition of the San Jose Mercury News, a rural community's cemetery was desecrated late on August 24th. The grave of a 77 year man, buried since 1977, was dug up. His remains were removed sloppily with the head severed; ceremonial burn marks (were found) around a granite; 14 headstones (were) tilted; and nearby, occult symbols (were) painted on the walls of a high school... Stanislaus C.S.O. Deputies found "...circles of footprints of six or seven people. Some of the prints suggest that young children, maybe babies, were present..." Capt. Gary Crawshaw, S.C.S.O., was quoted as saying, "...what concerns me is the child's footprints. You don't take young children out to dig up graves in the middle of the night. It leads me to suspect there was some ritual going on..."

Based on what the Editor has learned about such rituals in the past few months, I believe Capt. Crawshaw is correct. This may likely be an example of the ritualistic...intricate, programmed, diabolical...which Dr. Pazder and others quoted above are telling us about. This scene has been described by survivors from other places at other times: a ritual around an open grave, the child lowered by its biological mother into the grave to be left screaming and crying for Mother for a time with the decomposed remains, then 'rescue' by the high priestess. It is part of the tearing away of the child's affections for its natural mother. In the child's mind is left the conviction, "It must be really BAD for my Mom to do this to me!" The date of the ceremony is critical to the child's 'rebirth' as a child of Satan.

In other rituals of similar type, the child was smeared with blood. Dead kittens were placed with the child in the grave. (Cats are a significant female symbol.) Coven members collected finger bones from the corpse to keep as talisman.

This particular ritual ceremony is not the end in itself, but part of a detailed progression in the destruction of the spirit of the child. Any child involved in this ceremony is right in the middle of ritualized abuse and is in significant danger! The ritual observances held by this group at other locations between October 31 and November 2 will be larger, more powerful; the child will be ritually reborn as a child of satan.

The numbers involved in this case are all significant: August 24, 77 yrs man who died in 1977. Nothing happens without significance to the overall plan.

7. ARVADA, COLORADO: Spells Cast on Christian Pastor—Det. Walt Parsons, Arvada P.D., reports that a 25 yrs white female who claims to be an active witch in a local coven, was caught by some men in a large Arvada non-denominational church casting spells on the pastor as he was preaching. This occurred on 9/28/86; she was caught at the rear of the church building. The witch claims that her group was being instructed to begin attending local worship services for that purpose. This tactic coincides with other information the Editor has received that there is an eight-point plan used by covens to infiltrate churches and destroy them from within. It may also be some new direction covens are being instructed to take stemming from the opening of the seventh W.I.C.C.A. letter during the summer solstice in July.

8. COLORADO SPRINGS: Movement of Large Coven Groups into the Area—The Editor has recently heard two unconfirmed bits of information which tend to complement Det. Parsons's information in #7. Det. Joe Kissel, El Paso C.S.O. in Colorado said that rumors of serious, long-term witchcraft and satanic activity in Manitou Springs (next to Colo. Spgs.) have been repeated for some time. There have even been rumors of human sacrifices by this reportedly large group. A Christian Pastor in Colorado Springs reports having an experience similar to the Arvada case, except that the young witch (female in mid-20's) who was sent to desecrate his church was interrupted and led to a saving knowledge of Jesus Christ! The story she tells about her participation as a high priestess in a coven is remarkable. She told the pastor that a large satanic coven, which she called the 'Illuminate Brotherhood' was going to move from the Los Angeles area to Colorado Springs. The ex-witch fears for her life. Perhaps her best defense will be a full public disclosure. If and when that occurs, or her story can be told in more detail, the Editor will attempt to include it here.

Det. Kissel also noted that a New Age Meditation festival of some sort is planned for his area in the near future. This activity will be part of a worldwide New Age Meditation event which he said may involve up to 50 million people. Is it a coincidence that all this activity is surfacing in Colorado at the same time? Do you have more information or confirmation on the Colorado items? NOTE: Colorado, California, and Florida seem to have a few steps up on the rest of the states as far as police training concerning cult/occult activity goes. The frequency of the above information may be an artifact of higher awareness levels of their officers, not a sure sign that these activities are centered in Colorado. We are too new at this to draw premature conclusions.

If you want to make direct contact with the officers involved, contact Sgt. Mike Minge or Det. Joe Kissel at 303-520-7182.

9. OKLAHOMA CITY: Satanism Defense is Unsuccessful in Murder Trial—The trial of teenage defendant Sean Sellers is over. The jury chose the death penalty for the youth who was found guilty of the murder of a convenience store clerk last year and both his Parents as they slept on March 5, 1986. Testimony indicated that Sellers became involved in Dungeons and Dragons, then later overt satanism, including blood rituals. Documents from Sellers' home indicate that he had a blood pact with satanism. The prosecution held that Sellers killed the convenience store clerk "...just to find out what it felt like to kill a human being..." according to newspaper accounts in The Daily Oklahoman. Later, the jury believes, Sellers shot his parents to be rid of parental control and influence on his life.

The defense contention was that since Sellers was so deeply into satanism, he was not really in control of his own mind and actions...those being strongly influenced by the High Priest of his satanic group. The jury believed he was into satanism, but also believed that he knew right from wrong. The decision of the jury was carefully considered; an automatic appeal will be conducted according to Oklahoma law. Thanks to Det. Dennis Dill, Edmond (Okla.) P.D. for collecting the information on this trial.

Editor's Note: A witness in Sellers' trial voiced Sellers' contention that although he was a participant in the death of the clerk, he did not kill his own parents. He says that a rival in his coven group did the killing and is placing the blame on him in order to eliminate the competition for high priest.

MESA, ARIZONA: Alamo Organization—Det. Felipe Quintana, Mesa P.D. Intelligence Unit, says that numerous 2x2 ft. Alamo Posters have appeared around his city which label the Pope and President Reagan as Antichrist Devils. He said his agency has had no problems with members of the Alamo organization.

SANDWICH, MASS.: Active Ritual Sacrifices—Chief of Police Robert Whearty, Sandwich, described some of the problems which residents of this small town have been experiencing. A male and female couple in their 30's or 40's leads a mixed group in ritual observances. The group includes 12-15 youths of late senior high or recent graduate ages. They meet in fields, woods, and other secluded locations and engage in rituals, chants, and killing animals. Reportedly the group drinks blood—sometimes their own—and may be planning to kidnap and sacrifice the baby of a 14 year member. Whearty cited bonfires and lots of rumors. The group, calling itself the "Devil Worshippers," apparently been in existence for a long time. It has received the attention of the police which is taking the whole thing very seriously and is watching developments closely.

BEAUMONT, CALIFORNIA: Cult Crimes—Det. Curt Jackann, Beaumont P.D., appeared on a recent Oprah Winfrey talk show in Chicago dealing with the topic of ritualistic crimes. Also on the show were survivors, psychologists, parents, and our friend Mike Warnke. Although brief, Oprah did a good job introducing the emerging problem of ritual abuse of children to her viewing public.

Curt is instrumental in starting a Cult Crime Investigators Association in his area. He is willing to share information with law enforcement officers outside his area and should be considered an excellent resource. Curt's wife Sharon is involved in research and public education concerning cult and occult activities. Contact Curt at Beaumont P.D., 603 Grace Ave., Beaumont, California, 92223, 714-845-1161.

PLAQUEMINES PARRISH, LOUISIANA: Cult of Pyromaniacs—The local high school was apparently burned down on the third attempt by a group of youths they called the "Cult of Pyromaniacs." Det. Laasie Gorundstrom, P.P.S.O., said that the group was lead by an 18 year old male who has been arrested and has confessed to the arson. The arrestee is apparently the High Priest of the group who collected many artifacts of satanism and pyromany, incl. books, letters to witches, pentagrams, etc. Among items confiscated at time of arrest was a jar filled with sweet-smelling ashes. Other fires have been traced to activities of the Club. The suspect in custody had recently joined a local volunteer fire department. The Club of Pyromaniacs used the anarchy symbol—an "A" in a circle with the crossbar and legs extended outside the circle. Det. Gorundstrom can be contacted at 504-394-0649.

14. LACKAWANNA COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA: Coven Groups Reported—Officer William Gouden, Dunmore (Pa.) P.D., believes that cult and deviant movement activity in Northeast Pennsylvania has been going on for some time. He noted that "...there appears to be three separate groups operating in Lackawanna County, with probably and same amount in adjacent counties..." Inside his jurisdiction he feels that there is one active Satanic group. "...This group seems to center around a family: Father, approx. 35 yrs; Step-mother, approx. 33 yrs; and three sons, 16, 15, 14 yrs. It appears that these people are active in the recruitment of 13 to 21 year olds through their sons..."

Ofc. Gouden cited information that the group has progressed to animal mutilation and possibly the "bleeding of" at least one girl. The recruitment targets do not appear to be linked by a common denominator. He said that "...for the most part, if drugs were not used before recruitment, they are used after." He said the group uses the old "Peace Sign" (Ed. Note: Broken Cross), Nero's Cross, and the inverted Christian Cross. Police have found inverted crosses with three rays projecting from the crossbar section tattooed on the web of the hand of suspected members.

Officer Gouden can be contacted via the Borough of Dunmore P.D., 400 S. Blakely St., Dunmore, Pa., 18512.

1. INTRODUCTION -- For those of you new to the FILE 18 NETWORK, this newsletter is distributed to more than 600 officers in every area of the country. FILE 18 deals with crime, training, and intelligence information concerning cults, the occult, and various non-traditional groups. It is participative in nature, requiring constant input from you. By sharing what you learn in your investigations, fellow officer in other areas benefit. The mailing list is constantly growing. If you know of interested officers who should receive FILE 18, complete the sign-up form on the last page and call it in.

Expenses for printing, duplicating, and mailing this information are underwritten solely by your contributions. We are in the process of incorporating a tax exempt, non-profit organization to support this effort. Until then, donations are being processed through Trinity Fellowship Church, 222 N. Laton St., Boise, Idaho, 83706, Attn: FILE 18 NEWSLETTER.

2. RITUALIZED ABUSE OF CHILDREN -- The last edition was devoted primarily to bringing the topic of Ritualized Abuse (R/A) to your attention. What is so ironic is that many of the bizarre, destructive techniques involved--by themselves--aren't specifically illegal in most jurisdictions. We are in desperate need of the development of model legislation outlawing R/A. The Editor has checked with many sources and no-one is familiar with local, state, or federal statutes addressing R/A. If YOU are, please send copies of the code sections to FILE 18.

The following paragraphs comprise an input draft of one way to approach the topic. Please, bring it to the attention of concerned persons with expertise in drafting legislation. Constitutional or criminal law, hopefully, this draft will spark many ideas and initiate momentum. Send your revisions and ideas to the Editor.

DRAFT COPY FOR INPUT:
 PROPOSED LEGISLATION ADDRESSING PROGRAMMED OR RITUALIZED ABUSE OF MINOR CHILDREN UNDER THE AGE OF 18 YEARS.

DEFINITION: Ritualized abuse entails repeated physical, emotional, mental, and spiritual assaults combined with a systematized use of symbols, ceremonies, and machinations designed and orchestrated to attain malevolent effects. A bizarre, systematic and continuing mental, physical, and sexual abuse of children for the purpose of implanting evil and giving a form of sacrifice to a force or deity.

Every person who causes, aids, abets, or allows two or more of the following acts or conditions to occur to a minor child under the age of 18 years within any two year period shall be guilty of a felony. Sensory deprivation through enforced isolation, confinement, or darkness; deliberate exposure to cold by not providing adequate clothing or protection from the elements; deprivation of protein or adequate wholesome intake of nutrients necessary to support active physical, emotional, or psychological growth and well-being; nudity in the presence of two or more persons not the parents, legal guardians, siblings, or authorized medical attendants; insertion of any foreign object or body part into any body orifice; intentionally inflicting torture or pain beyond normal parental disciplinary authority.

ingestion or external or internal application of human or animal feces, urine, dead flesh, bones, body secretions, non-prescription drugs, chemical compounds, dirt, ashes, decomposed matter, or other unhygienic or harmful substances. Intentional spatial disorientation by abrupt, repeated movements or manipulations; actual or illusionary torture, maiming, mutilation, or killing of any warm-blooded animal or human being in the presence of the child, excluding normal animal husbandry practices or those consistent with the lawful taking of wild game; intentional desecration of traditional religious processes or activities or use of traditional religious objects or articles to abuse; representations of a biological parent, legal guardian, sibling, peer, or close relative within the definition of incest as a desirable partner for sexual contact, or actual participation or sexual contact with any of these; display of pornographic or obscene photographs, literature, audio or visual representations to the child, or use of the child in the production of any of these; dissection, mutilation, incineration, or manipulation, whether actual or illusionary, of a human corpse; bodily contact with a dissected, mutilated, or decomposed human body or parts thereof; forcing the child to perform cruel, assaultive, or violent unlawful acts upon another human being or animal; instilling inappropriate or false guilt feelings or personal responsibility for unlawful, heinous acts through forced, contrived, coercive, or illusionary scenes, repeated interruptions of normal sleep cycles; intentional destruction of normal parent-child physical, emotional, or psychological bonding, false personations of recognizable authority figures or personal role models for the purpose of creating fear or guilt in, or otherwise manipulating or controlling the child's behavior; threats of death, serious harm, or kidnapping against the child or its family members, pets, or friends which instill a well-founded fear in the child that such threat will be carried out; enforced captivity or confinement; bondage by ligature, chains, locks, handcuffs, or other control devices without due process of law, for the purpose of instilling fear or insuring compliance to unlawful orders, or as punishment for noncompliance with unlawful activities; ingestion, injection, or other application of any narcotic drug, hallucinogen, anesthetic, or medicine, whether legal or illicit, for the purpose of dulling sensitivity, cognition, recollection, or resistance to unlawful or abusive activities; bring the child to a near-death state by whatever means; involve the child in an unauthorized, mock, or unlawful marriage ceremony with another person or representation of any force or deity followed by sexual contact involving the child; use of recognized national or patriotic symbols as implements of abuse; failure to lawfully report the birth or death of the child; or, participation in any meeting, ceremony, ritual, gathering, or service involving two or more persons wherein unlawful sexual acts are committed, wherein unlawful drug use occurs, or wherein violent or assaultive acts occur involving or in the presence of the child."

PUNISHMENTS: Conviction of first offense: 5-15 years in prison. Conviction of second and subsequent offenses: life imprisonment. Conviction of any offense involving loss of human life: sentence of death.

PROTECTION OF VICTIMS AND WITNESSES DURING PROSECUTION: Victims of programmed or ritualized abuse under the age of sixteen years shall be afforded special protection by the court during prosecution in that cross-examination of that child shall be limited to a single defense attorney selected by all participating defense counsel and approved by the court. Cross-examination of the child shall be concluded when the testimony has been covered once. The court may admit filmed, video-taped, or audio-taped interviews with very young witnesses in lieu of personal testimony where the risk of re-traumatizing the victim on the witness stand is substantial. Electronically preserved scenes of play therapy may be admitted after proper background has been laid.

The court should assign the financial burden for on-going, long-term physical, emotional, psychological, and/or spiritual therapy for victims and their families to convicted defendants.

3. COALITION OF AGENCIES -- In order to foster some nationwide co-ordination to address the Ritualized Abuse problem, the following two 19 CHRISTMAS GREETINGS -- Our focus turns inward at Christmastime...to our families, friends, loved ones and memories of past holidays. Yet even while we are gathering to enjoy our Christmas Eve festivities, those on the other side are preparing to perform some very bad acts upon unwilling victims. Some of you may be called away from your firesides to intervene and interrupt such grisly festivals. I suspect as we become more aware we must also become more involved.

On a more positive note, the Editor would like to remind each of us that what WE give to OUR children NOW may turn them away from the bad stuff later on. Dorothy Law Nolte wrote:

"If children live with criticism, they learn to condemn; if children live with hostility, they learn to fight; if children live with ridicule, they learn to be shy; if children live with tolerance, they learn to be patient; if children live with encouragement, they learn confidence; if children live with praise, they learn to appreciate; if children live with fairness, they learn justice; if children live with security, they learn to have faith; if children live with approval, they learn to like themselves; if children live with acceptance and friendship, they learn to find love in the world."

20 REQUEST FOR SPEAKERS -- Pat Pulling, Director of Bothered About Dungeons and Dragons, Inc., Box 5513, Richmond, VA. 23220-0513, ph: 804-883-6747, needs help responding to requests that she appear on radio talk shows to discuss Ritualized Abuse. Her area of expertise is in fantasy role playing games, teen violence, and satanism, not R/A. If you have experience dealing with R/A and would be willing to appear on one or more of these programs, please send a note to Pat outlining your experience and credentials. Thanks in advance.

15 UPCOMING SATANIC CALENDAR DATES -- The San Diego Sheriff's Office compiled the following satanic calendar information. Be aware of the upcoming ritual dates:

12-22 Feast Day with orgies to celebrate the Winter Solstice
12-24 Demon Revels involving the sacrifice of a child of a Christian NOTE: March 22 (Spring Equinox), June 21 (Summer Solstice), September 22 (Fall Equinox) and December 22 (Winter Solstice) are four of the 8 sabbats celebrated each year. The dates may change somewhat from year to year. Five weeks plus one day from each of these dates comprises the "Grand Climax" to all underworld demons and requires human sacrifice. 12-24 is the Grand High Climax, so be aware of the special significance. Pay attention to missing person and kidnap reports prior to these dates. If you suspect involvement of specific individuals, their absence from normal circulation during these dates will lend some confirmation to their involvement.

17 RESOURCE C A R I S./JACK ROPER -- The Christian Apologetics Research and Information Service can be contacted at: P O. Box 1659, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, 53201, or, ph: 414-771-7379. Jack Roper has sent the Editor a stack of material which reflects years of painstaking research and computer cataloging. His listing currently includes 1600 entries about people and groups interested in the following traditions: Animism, Druidism, Goddess Worship, Paganism, Satanism, Shamanism, Voodoo, and Witchcraft. "A Sorcery Iceberg in America"--containing names, addresses, and phone numbers--is prefaced by text outlining background information which is valuable for any officer who is building expertise in cult/occult crime investigation. For the researcher, Jack compiled a directory of media reports and stories dealing with the occult. He also sent a listing of contact addresses for lodges and camps of the Ordo Templi Orientis (O.T.O.).

C.A.R.I.S. is available to assist police with training and educational material. The Editor does not know how C.A.R.I.S. is set up concerning mailing lists or availability/cost of materials, but I recommend that you make contact and see what this group has to offer.

18 CATTLE AND ANIMAL MUTILATIONS -- The Editor has heard recent reports that cattle/animal mutilations are still being found, especially in the rangeland states. Mr. Steve Watts, Box 771, Idaho Falls, Idaho, 83402, ph 208-529-3336, worked as a State Investigator on many mutilation cases in Idaho during the mid-70's. He and his co-investigators had to fight the "battles" of spurious explanations for hundreds of mutilations, which included claims that coyotes or other 'critters' had done the dirty work, and that U.P.O.'s were responsible. During recent training for Boise P.D., Steve noted that the veneer of civilization is very thin; the stress of unexplained dead cows brought locals to hysterical, vigilante-type action.

Extensive investigation, both in Idaho and in Wyoming, established the methodology used by occultists who allegedly collected animal body parts and blood for ritual purposes. Tranquillizer-type dart guns (many of which were stolen from local dog pounds) were used to inject fast-acting animal tranquilizers (such as Ketosin and Ketaset, I believe) which rapidly blocked the nervous system. The perpetrators would then surgically remove tongues, eyes, sexual organs, large pieces of hide, and even entire rear legs from fullgrown cattle. Sometimes catheters were inserted directly into the animals' hearts which pumped lifeblood out of the animal. Some incisions were made with pinking shears, probably in an effort to disguise the cuts, making them appear to be made by predators' teeth. Microscopic inspection of these cuts clearly negated the 'critter' theories.

After the deeds were done and the suspects had left, the quickly-dissipating tranquilizer would wear off, the animals would regain consciousness and sometimes walk off for quite a distance before they died. That explained why no human footprints or blood sign were found near the carcasses! Also, in open pastures, other animals milling around the scene would quickly obliterate evidentiary traces.

Steve Watts has collected numerous slides concerning mutilation investigations which debunk the emotional, far-fetched theories we have all heard. He has spent his professional lifetime in local and state policeswork, and now has a private investigations and polygraph agency. He is willing to share what he has learned and is available as a training resource for law enforcement.

15 IN THE WORDS OF A SURVIVOR -- Cpl Kurt Jackson, Beaumont (CA.) P D sent the following account of a witness/unwilling participant in a human sacrifice ritual ceremony. You can decide to believe it or not, but Kurt has a lot of credibility with the Editor.

-I think my father was trying to gain satanic power. I remember going with my father to a man's apartment. It seemed as if it was a seedy neighborhood. He wanted to buy a woman. I thought my father was good because he didn't sell me. The man wanted to exchange the woman for me. He wanted a clean blonde, no makeup, in her early 20's. I was a 7 year old kid at the time.

Later when she came into the room, they made her take her clothes off and lie on the table. There were men and women in the room. She started protesting when they tied her up. She screamed a lot. She looked at me. And I couldn't save her. They screwed her before and after she was dead. I felt like it was my fault. I felt I should have saved her. But I thought that if I had asked my father to save her I would have been next. They made me lie on top of her when she was dead. They had a stainless steel trough under the table to catch the blood. My mother held my arms and made me cut her wrists with a razor blade.

She looked at me as I was doing it, as if she couldn't believe what was happening. I don't think she could believe she was being killed by a little girl.

They would toast the Devil with blood. Usually they would take the heart out and offer it to the Devil to be blessed. Sometimes they would use a scalpel, sometimes a dagger. They would always push a piece of the heart in my mouth.

I was tied to a cross alongside a dead man one Easter. I remember feeling ill because I was upside down. They took his intestines out and cut him down. They made me wedge partially inside the cavity. I was supposed to be born to this man. They made me do sexual things to him. They put the man in a coffin and put me on top of him. They had a box of live kittens, and they crushed their heads and threw their bodies into the coffin. Then they closed the lid. I can remember screaming. But I worked really hard to calm myself down. I could hear someone walking across the wooden floor. I had to go to the bathroom. Later, when my father let me out, he told me I was a stinking pig and I smelt so bad. I had to lie on the floor in the back of the car and he threw a rug over me.

Then they made me murder the woman with blonde hair by cutting her wrists, she held my arm. She didn't start screaming until both her wrists were cut. She was looking at me. She couldn't believe it was happening. That she was being killed by an 11 year old girl.

Losing my virginity in the bride of Satan ceremony was, in a way, not as bizarre as some of the other things they did to me. It was after going to the opera in a prestigious Vancouver hotel. Six people, three men and three women including my father. Usually 13 people at ceremonies. They have no choice but to go...

It was the usual coven. It was nighttime. Father was standing by the altar. I walked to the altar alone. The people there said--they were chanting--"Hail, Bride of Satan. Welcome, Bride of Satan to our midst." I was crying. They were greeting me with clenched fists. They told me to kneel on the table (altar) in front of my father. They all walked around the table twice and touched the top of my head. They told me to lie down on my back on the table. Then they took turns doing what they did last night. They put their penises in a new place. It was a little hole in front of my bum. They were burning incense. It was quite a short ceremony. The women took turns licking me out. I'd got to expect that now. It was inside a building. The robes were black and purple. Father's had a lot of embroidery...

This account is not unique. More and more survivors are telling similar things. It appears that such ritualistic abuse groups are becoming bolder about recruiting victims outside their biological families, such as in the daycare/ritualistic abuse cases now coming to light.

13 SATANIC GRAVE ROBBERS -- Cpl. Wayne C. Jirsa and TFC Benjamin Hurdle, Maryland State Police, have issued a regional request for information concerning the desecration of an infant's grave and removal of the body on October 20 from the Pine Grove Cemetery, Mount Airy, Carroll County, Maryland. The baby's body was recovered in the Damascus area of Montgomery County, Maryland, the next day. These crimes were tied to satanism. According to the WESTMINSTER NEWS (11-9-86), "The rudely toppled tombstones, the desecrated grave of an ill-fated infant, the wooden crosses stabbed upside-down into the ground all spoke of something sinister, all hinted at motives born in the murky recesses of sick minds."

Allegedly, five Montgomery County youths destroyed more than 60 grave markers and exhumed the baby's body in the furtherance of satanic rituals. Two 18 yr. olds and three juvies were charged. According to witness accounts, the group had been involved in satanic ritual activity for some time. As yet unconfirmed statements indicate that the group's leader told others that he has taken young virgin girls from the Pennsylvania and Virginia mountain areas, sacrificed them, then eaten their bodies. Further, within the past two years a cemetery in the Pennsylvania area was supposedly desecrated when this group exhumed the body of an elderly male. The man's body was utilized in a satanic ritual, stabbed numerous times.

Please search your memories and your files. If you have unresolved cases involving young girls or a grave desecration case waiting for suspects, contact Cpl. Jirsa and TFC Hurdle. No S.P. PLEASE KEEP THESE DETAILS CONFIDENTIAL; THE CASE IS STILL UNDER PROSECUTION.

14. BOTHELL, WASHINGTON, GRAVE ROBBERS -- Det. Frank Kinney, King Co. (Wash.) Dept. of Public Safety, forwarded a news article written by Michael Barber in a local newspaper on 11-19-86 which detailed a bizarre crime at the small, pioneer Paradise Lake Cemetery in North King County. Grave robbers dug up the body of Anton Tscherlich who died in 1949. Tscherlich was born in 1881. The dark, secluded cemetery has been victimized numerous times in the past. Someone has tried unsuccessfully to dig up this particular grave at least three times in the last dozen years. It would really be interesting to know "Who?" and "Why?" This crime occurred between 11-14 and 11-17-86.

Earlier, Det. Kinney informed the Editor of a cross-burning case in King County which occurred on October 11, at 9032 hrs. on a hillside overlooking a shopping complex. The 8 ft. cross, constructed of fuel-soaked rags attached to 4x4 wood, seemed to be burned as a way to attract attention to the following note suspended from a tree by a string, 8 ft from the cross. (A compass-orientation figure showed North as the top; the word "Bellar" was on the top of the page, "Lucifer" on the right side, "Satan" on the bottom, and "Leviathan" on the left side) "Dear Citizens, Dear People Concerned, take heed our sacrifice, for it is only the start. This is a symbol of Satan our god using the crucifix of ancient death. We have no rival to our power for it is from the wholeness of Satan. The burning represents the separation of soul and body. Take heed the Southern cross is soon to come. The burning of both the Northern and Southern cross burning represents balance. To us this means everlasting joy and indulgence which our group represents. SIN (underlined three times) (Signed) LUCIFER We thank John who gave his soul to Satan for this sacrifice. Just be thankful your baby has not been sacrificed yet (Explanation mark with cross-bar.)"

If you have had experience with such implied rituals or writings, please contact the Editor. I'd like to get a 'reading' on what the writer is saying. If 'John' gave his soul, does that mean he was the sacrifice victim, or, that he consecrated his soul to Satan via the sacrifice of a baby?

Editor's Note What 50-500 million minds can accomplish if cohesively organized is yet to be seen. Be alert to "strange going's on" in your area.
This may be just a practice organizational event to see how many people they can bring "on-line".

1) RESOURCE CULT AWARENESS COUNCIL -- According to a brochure recently received, the R.A.C. is a non-profit organization incorporated in Texas and is affiliated with the national coalition, Cult Awareness Network in Chicago. The Editor will borrow from their literature to introduce you to their orientation.

Destructive Cults will probably contain all or most of the following:
1. CHARISMATIC LEADERSHIP claiming divinity or special knowledge; 2.
DECEPTION in recruiting and fund raising; 3. FINANCIAL PRESSURE to donate heavily or pay for mandatory courses, books, tapes, etc.; 4. ALIENATION from family, friends, the 'evil outside world', etc.; 5. Indoctrination of cult goals which replace individual or career goals; 6. EXHAUSTION from excessive training, fund raising, or recruiting; 7. DENIGRATION of independent thinking, no tolerance for doubts, questions, or criticism; 8.
PHYSICAL/MENTAL DYSFUNCTION from poor (protein deficient) nutrition, inadequate rest, denial of medical aid; 9. EXPLOITATION of time which uses little of a member's training or education; 10.
SOCIAL/PSYCHOLOGICAL CONTROL maintained by fear, guilt, and repetitive self-hypnotic practices; and 11. DEPENDENCY on leadership for all or most decisions resulting in loss of identity.

If victims report the following come-on lines to you, be alert to possible destructive cult practices: 1. "You can increase your true potential by taking this special course!" (Does that sound like L. Ron Hubbard's TV ads for "Dianetics"? i.e. Scientology?) 2. "Join us at a non-denominational Bible study." 3. "You can become more relaxed by using our techniques." 4. "Help us help mankind." 5. "It'll be the most valuable weekend of your life!" 6. "You have to experience it to understand it."

Since the entire purpose for the FILE 18 NEWSLETTER is to facilitate networking of information by cops and related citizen/support groups, take the time to drop a line to the Cult Awareness Council, Box 610922, D/FW Airport, Texas, 75261-0922. See what materials they offer which would be helpful to you. They have books and tapes on a variety of destructive cults and want to expand into the topic area of satanic cults. You can help them.

11. THROOP BOROUGH, PENN -- Ofc. Sam Mazzatta, Throop P.D., has kept in touch concerning the developments he has identified in his area. As of last November 1st, he has located six satanic ritual sites in deep wooded areas.
They are hard to find and require much walking. He commonly finds similar set-up patterns, satanic paintings, symbols, and signs are used, including Inverted crosses (symbolic of blood sacrifices), pentagrams, swastikas, 666, Vero's Crosses, unicorns, representations of a horned deity, and characteristic symbols seen in heavy metal rock groups. Sam is documenting and photographing these sites and it appears that a well-established group may rotate from site to site depending on which sabbat or celebration it is involved in. The sixth and latest site was located the day after Halloween
'86 after residents complained of noise and screaming coming from a wooded mountain area near their homes all night. The screaming lasted until 7
A.M.! Because of the terrain, officers were not able to locate the site while participants were there. Officer Sam Mazzatta can be contacted via Throop Borough P.D., Municipal Building, Throop, PA. 18512, 489-0211.

12. RITUALISTIC CRIME SEMINAR -- The Cedar City, Utah, P.D. is sponsoring a two day seminar entitled OCCULT/RITUALISTIC CRIME IN THE 1980's on January 22-23, 1987. Pat Pulling, B.A.D.D., Inc.; Denver Detectives Cleo Wilson and William Wickenham; and Leslie Floburg, President of 'Believe the Children' will be the featured speakers. Cost: $65.00 plus room and board. CONTACT:

She was scared, fearful enough to call the police. Fortunately the officer who responded was knowledgeable enough about what he observed to make a detailed report which he routed to the Editor. You see, all this happened in Boise.

Follow-up contacts with "Gwen" and her boyfriend "Bob" unveiled a remarkable chain of events. Gwen lived in a triplex with daughter "Sandi" and Bob. Next to them lived a family who had known Gwen and Bob in their small hometown before moving to Boise. The woman "Ruth" professed to have been heavily involved in witchcraft in the past, but said she was now out of it. However, Gwen had observed her levitating objects, summoning spirits, and other occultic manifestations.

To make a long story short--after receiving confirmations from Dr Brown and Elaine (above)--we determined that Ruth was most likely still heavily involved in a coven group and was assigned to recruit Gwen and her daughter into it. Failing that, according to the meaning of the "hex" signs, Gwen and daughter were to be taken as ritual sacrifice victims. We believe that Ruth placed the "hexes" to frighten Gwen into running to her for "help," at which time Gwen and her little girl would have been totally at the coven's mercy. Instead, Gwen "ran" the other way. She and Bob made personal commitments to Jesus Christ, bound all power of curses, hexes, and Satan over them, and threw away the many unicorns and gifts from Ruth in their apartment. Gwen felt so strongly that the coven still posed a threat to their safety that she requested a safe place to stay. We informally assisted in making arrangements for a "safe house" until after November 2, 1986.

Many things combined to produce this alarming set of circumstances: Gwen had received threatening phone calls telling her that "they" were "coming to get her and her daughter for incest"; Gwen had herself been an incest victim during adolescence, a fact she shared with no-one; the highest ritual date on the satanic calendar--Halloween--was approaching; unconfirmed reports indicate that covens are being directed to perform blood sacrifices on the 24th of each month. Provable, or not, we consider this situation a double "gave."

8 SATAN'S WARRIOR IN CENTRAL MISSOURI -- Det. Sam Ellis in Central Missouri called with a story similar to #7, above. A letter-writer calling himself Satan's Warrior or part of a group of Satan's Warriors, has written threat notes to a young mother in her twenties named Faith. He wrote to Faith "... I just got some very good news. I just found out that the Stalker no longer protects you. Now I'm coming for you. You will soon be with me by my side... I'm coming." In another letter "...Satan wants to drain your holy blood and fill it with his undefeated power. So join his warrior's hand when he wanders by at night. Do as we say... we have the power for you to drop dead." Then a third letter "...Satan will have your soul sooner than you think. The time is real short... Here is wisdom. Let her who hath understanding reckon the number of the beast for it is a number of a man. His number is 666. Worship within him. It's his desire."

Faith was born on 8-16-66. Her daughter will be five years old on 12-25-86. Faith is scared for her life. Det. Ellis told me that his rural community has one unsolved homicide... that of a nude, decomposed female found in a secluded area over a year ago. He's still very involved in this case, but is confronted by resistance and disbelief within his community and department.

9 CONFIRMATION OF DECEMBER '86 BIG EVENT -- We asked for information about the New Age event planned for December. Item #8 of the FILE 18 NEWSLETTER, Fourth Edition. Here it is. According to INTERCESSORS FOR AMERICA NEWSLETTER, December 1986: "New Age Occultic Event Set for December 31, 1986. A "World Healing Meditation" has been set by a New Age Planetary Commission. "HE CAME TO SET THE CAPTIVES FREE" -- This startling book written by Rebecca Brown, M.D., details the recruitment of a teenager named Elaine into a satanic coven. In her own words, Elaine tells of her seventeen years of serving Satan where she increased in skills as a priestess and ultimately became one of the powerful regional 'Brides of Satan' in the U.S. Elaine, and many of the satanists under her, entered into a "...titanic life and death struggle..." with Dr. Brown, who served a different Master.

Dr. Brown's book grippingly portrays the demonic identities and satanic power which battled against her. Satanic rituals, including human sacrifice, are described; this true story gives the reader a valuable perspective of the mindset of suspects caught up in satanism. Elaine's deliverance from the bondage of satanism was only possible because she renounced Satan and plugged into the power greater than Satan, Jesus Christ.
The book is written from a strong Biblical standpoint. It is available through bookstores, or from the publisher: Chick Publications, P.O. Box 662, Chino, CA. 91710.

Dr. Brown and Elaine are available to assist you in your cases, with interpretation of signs and symbols, to answer questions, or should you have an emergency need for help in the "rescue" of a satanist! Call 8-5 at 714-

"WITCH SUES FOR HOLIDAYS OFF" -- Det. Capt. Fred Netzel, Cheektowaga
N.Y.) P.D., sent a clipping from the 11-21-86 BUFFALO NEWS. Charles Arnold, a professing witch in the Wicca tradition, has filed a discrimination complaint with the Ontario (Canada) Human Rights Commission.
He alleges that he has been denied paid Wiccan holidays off his job at umber College. Arnold, 39, requested Beltane (May 1) and Samhain (Nov. 1).
He said the practice of his religion "...involves nude worshipping and fireside celebrations of purification..." The president of his union local confirmed Arnold had made a formal complaint; the union has filed a grievance.

Capt. Netzel also attached a clipping from an A.P. story originating in Watertown, N.Y. A jury convicted a 16 yr. old for killing an 11 yr. old because he believed the younger boy "...had become evil and he was going to extinguish people...he sat up in the center of his bed...pointed the gun at Martin and pulled the trigger." The teen is guilty of a murder stemming from a Dungeons and Dragons Game.

"TWO LIVES SAVED" -- In mid-October, a young mother found two satanic-looking symbols adorning the front and rear steps of her home. Written backward on her four-year-old daughter's bedroom window appeared the word DEATH. On the front step was a triangle made of salt. In the middle of it stood a 6" green water-glass-type goblet which smelled of urine. Drawn in black on the patio was a six-pointed hexagram inside two concentric circles.
An eye was drawn inside the star and the word death arched over the eye.
