INTERNATIONAL PERSPECTIVE: You have heard endless recent discourse concerning the accuracy of many public accounts of crimes which were motivated by cult/occult beliefs. The discussions frequently fail to consider the fruits of laborious investigative or therapeutic efforts which confirm these allegations, result in recovery, or place offenders in prison. We are constantly embroiled in a pitched 'battle' between points of view, perspectives, credentials, and self-named experts. Often the 'shots' are intentionally misaligned to highlight illogical side-issues and cloud truth with smokescreens of empty, resource-draining controversy. Mr. Arthur Lyons, author, described the upsurge of reports of satanic crime and ritualized abuse as an "...urban myth...", as if to suggest that thousands of legitimate investigators and trained case-workers were susceptible to simultaneous mass delusion. To believe that is more incredible than to believe that our systems have loopholes which have caused us to miss vital cult/occult crime indicators in the past.

SS/A Ken Lanning, F.B.I., was quoted in a Portland Oregonian newspaper article as saying that--presumably according to the F.B.I.'s Uniform Crime Report statistics--the U.S. experiences about 20,000 murders per year. "There just flat out aren't enough missing people to account for all the ritual murders that police officials such as Jones [your Editor] believe are occurring, Lanning said in a telephone interview...If ritual killings and other crimes are occurring to the extent claimed, Lanning said, it is clearly--clearly--the greatest crime conspiracy in the history of mankind." [Emphasis Added.] C.C.I.N. believes that Ken has hit the nail on the head! After all, what is the basis of U.C.R. statistics? THE U.C.R. REFLECTS ONLY THOSE CRIMES REPORTED TO POLICE, NOT THE UNREPORTED ONES!

Consider: Some (perhaps many) traditionally-committed murders go unreported for 5, 10, 20 years, and even forever. These are not tabulated into U.C.R. totals because they are not reduced to writing on a local police officer's report form; they never enter the U.C.R. flow. Jurisdictional boundaries, also, continually confound the efforts of law enforcement as 'missing person' or 'suspicious circumstances' reports in one agency fail to connect with the 'found body' investigation in another. Ample information now exists which logically describes how and why satanic serial killers can perpetually escape exposure, police scrutiny, and prosecution. Plausible motives and methodologies have been uncovered in recent years which now constitute new police investigative, treatment, and training skill areas.

Let's not be colloquial in our thinking! This problem--which we are just beginning to re-recognize in our modern age--is ancient, multi-cultural, and philosophically consistent throughout the centuries. Many well-documented resource books trace devil-worship, sacrifice, occult manifestations, and supernatural phenomena back in time across every continent, through every nationality, in every age.

The Editor recently contacted the Reachout Trust, P.O. Box 43, Twickenham, TW3 7EG, England. ("Trust" is the British equivalent of a 'non-profit corporation.') This organization--now consisting of a number of member groups in Britain and Wales--exists solely to help those who are trapped in the cults and occult. Among other things, Reachout Trust supports an Occult Problems Helpline.

A Trans-Atlantic telephone call to Maureen Davies, Director of the North Wales Reachout group, was most enlightening. She spoke of their extensive work with occultists who described human sacrifice rituals, of children sadistically abused at the hands of satanists, of drugs and pornography linked to entrenched satanic worship organizations, of "brood-mares" (a reference the Editor mistook for animal mutilation until Maureen explained these were women who conceived and gave up their infants for sacrifice, i.e.: our "breeders"), of satanic infiltrators in positions of authority, of skeptical police officials, of apathetic government systems which were slow to respond to gruesome reality...does this sound familiar? Maureen also reported that she had contacts with similar workers and groups in Europe and Africa who had documented the same types of reports.

Where do the contrived controversies of "...urban myth..." and statistical dinosaurs stand now in light of international confirmation that the same satanic crime problems exist across the globe? Since 1986, File 18 has not been describing isolated incidents, urban myths, societal aberrations, or the products of a few mad-men's scrambled minds. The issues of satanic/cult/occult-motivated crimes and victimization are internationally-linked, global in scope. Let the detractors, the confusers, the compromisers, the rationalizers address the real issues in their world-wide context, instead of isolating, denying, singling-out, ridiculing. We can openly admit international drug, pornography, and terrorist cartels exist, yet we have problems considering the existence of satanic worldwide links, even though unlimited money, power, and influence are the rewards. File 18 Newsletter has received permission to reproduce portions of Maureen Davies' article entitled "Satanic Ritual Abuse." You will recognize the writing style of Britain; the stark facts presented are identical to those we have encountered in the U.S., Canada, and Mexico.

Satanic Ritual Abuse by Maureen Davies

"Reachout Trust is a Christian organisation. Part of the work of Reachout Trust is to help those people who are trapped in the occult, and we co-operate with other agencies in this. At present I head up the occult side of the work on a national level...divided into three parts:

a) To monitor the occult problem in this country [North Wales] by doing research into this field, where necessary taking action against some activities and teaching other how to do this.

- b) To come alongside and give support to victims and their families. To encourage, counsel and share with them the different avenues they can pursue.
- c) To challenge and educate the church about the problem of the occult and ritual abuse.

Three years ago I was asked to be involved with a teenager who had been arrested for desecrating a church. The story that was unfolded by the mother left me realising how easy it was to be involved in black magic and brainwashed without realising the dangers. The answer the court gave was to place the teenager in care for his own safety away from the recruiters, yet they ignored the root of the problem, his emotional need, coping without a father and his craving for supernatural power.

Since then we have had many enquiries from parents and other relatives whose teenage sons or daughters have become involved in Witchcraft or Satanism asking what can they do. Some have attempted suicide, become psychologically disturbed or have just placed an increased strain on the family. There are no slick easy answers to this problem, only commitment, time and dedication.

A year ago I was introduced to my first case of ritual child abuse. Since then I have been involved in or contributed to helping over 15 situations of satanic abuse. Referrals have been through church leaders, social services, the medical profession and other voluntary organisations. We are now having inquiries from France, Germany, Norway, South Africa, and America.

The details which I will share in this article may be difficult for you to believe. You may ask, "Do these problems with the occult really exist?" I would have to say yes, from my own personal experience and from the inquiries we receive. It is hard to realise that human beings can be so cruel to one another. But for the sake of the victims, whether they be children, or adults who have been recruited, I am asking you to listen sensitively to what they say. They will be putting out feelers, asking "Will you still love me and believe me if I tell you what I have been involved in?" For them, this could be the beginning of their sharing some of the horrific experiences they have been through.

Millions of pounds are spent on the occult every year in this country and abroad. There are hundreds of occult products listed in their mail order catalogues--tarot cards, Ouija boards and satanic ritual regalia. Some are also involved in pornography and drug dealing. Most of the satanic groups, if not all, are networked with other groups in this country, Europe and the rest of the world, in particular, America.

The subject of the occult is vast and varied. Occult shops are opening up everywhere and under many banners, for example, they are sometimes called "New Age Centre" or "Alternative Life-style" shops, or just plain Occult shops. These shops can be open recruiting grounds for satanic and witchcraft groups, preying on the minds of teenagers especially those craving for power and control on others, or those who are lacking in self-esteem and worth, thinking power will give them a boost. Who would want to have a girl-friend through manipulation that is not real love? The occult openly distorts the truth and undermines the security of family life. We have to act. We are not saying that everyone involved in witchcraft is molesting children, but unfortunately there are groups that do.

HOW ARE CHILDREN INTRODUCED TO SATANISM?

The social background of people involved can range from those in the highest places in this country to the poorest. The children are involved through three ways:

- a) Generational Witchcraft and Satanism
- b) Recruitment programmes
- c) Involuntary processes

Generational Witchcraft or Satanism. ...the children are involved through one or two of their parents, grandparents, aunt or uncle. They are initiated at a young age and told their soul now belongs to Satan.

Recruitment Programmes. The recruitment programmes are far more subtle and well organised...here are some examples...

1. Through someone already in a coven or temple. Even 8 year old children have been given soft drinks laced with drugs, then introduced to pornographic literature.
2. Via occult magazines that are easily available in shops...
3. Organised parties where the Ouija board is introduced or the tarot cards...Gradually they are introduced to a third persons who will tell them that Satan has the power...
4. At parties where drink laced with drugs is available...perverted sex takes place...Photographs are taken...then they are blackmailed that their parents will be informed if they do not cooperate...
5. Children who have run away from home are recruited from railway stations, under embankments, enticed with food, money, attention, and anything else that will suck them up.

6. Psychic Fayres and New Age festivals.

Involuntary Means. ...involved through involuntary means, especially if they have run away from home, or are causing trouble at home. They feel lonely, unwanted, unloved. The recruiters prey on this and realise no one will come looking if they are missing. A perfect individual for a human sacrifice.

WHAT GOES ON IN THE RITUALS IN BRITAIN TODAY

Whenever we come across ritual abuse, the same evil practices occur again and again. The following list contains activities reported to me by the children themselves and these reports are backed up by people I know personally, who have come out of Satanism.

1. Children are given drugs, by injection, medicine or in drinks...either to sedate them or to cause them to hallucinate. Muscle relaxants are also given, so that if they are young they can still be used in the sexual activities of participants without causing too much physical damage.
2. Candles are laced with drugs to give the effects mentioned above. Also, incense that excites the emotions is used to induce sexual arousal.
3. Some are taught self-hypnosis, and have a trigger word that starts an abnormal fear.
4. Chanting takes place during these rituals to call up the demons.
5. They are taught to hate God, Jesus, Church and everything that is good, applying the principle that good is evil and evil is good.
6. In some of the rituals the people dress up in robes and masks, e.g.: goats heads, etc., in order to frighten the children.
7. Nursery rhymes are recited with indecent overtones, e.g.: "Ring a Ring of Roses, a pocket full of posies, Atishoo, Atishoo! We drop our pants down."
8. The children are urinated upon frequently and excrement is wiped all over their bodies including their heads...to defile innocent children and ruin their purity. Urine and excrement [are] mixed with blood and semen and the children are made to eat it. The semen and blood [are] also wiped all over the dishes before they eat out of them. The blood can be human or from animals.
9. After the blood ritual the children have to drink the blood. Sometimes they have to drink from human skulls of children and adults. The blood is also smeared over their bodies.
10. These children are threatened with death if they tell what they are involved in. One way they are kept silent is by involving them in the rituals themselves. Fear is a tremendous tool...

11. Children are placed in coffins and buried alive... (perhaps hours later) the satanist leader comes, to show them that he is the only one who really cares!

12. Children are also placed in cages. Some children state that they have had an electric shock when they touch the bars.

13. Children are made to eat insects... and told that wherever they see these insects there will be someone watching them...

14. Perverted sex takes place... [and the children]... have objects such as live snakes, crosses, pieces of wood and other instruments placed up their anus or vagina.

15. Sex with animals, humans, and dead bodies takes place... with some children actually abusing others... the victim becomes the victimiser in the rituals.

16. Snakes seem to play an important part in the torture. [The children]... report that when they are screaming the adults are laughing at them.

17. Upside down crosses are used to inflict pain or punishment. Children are left to hang on them for hours... satanists say the pain makes them purer.

18. Sacrifice. The children have to witness and take part in a variety of sacrifices:

Brood Mares. In the temples or covens they have young girls or older women that they call "Brood Mares." ...[who]... are there to be made pregnant purely for sacrifices. When they are five and a half months pregnant, the birth is induced. At this stage the foetus is alive and can be sacrificed. The blood of the infant is then drunk, then the body is eaten. What is not eaten is stored for the next ritual.

Full term babies whose births have not been registered. Children who have been born into the temple or coven before the time of registering are also used as sacrifice. These leave no trace as they have not been registered.

Older children. The children have told me about older children being sacrificed. This can be either by placing on an upside down cross and slitting their throats, or by stabbing with a dagger through their heart, after which the bodies are set on fire. The children state that before a child is sacrificed, its mouth is taped so it cannot shout.

Another disturbing factor that has been reported to us is the willingness of some of those who are going to be sacrificed. They are promised a better life after they have died because they believe in reincarnation.

Adult sacrifice. The children state how someone goes "shopping for a victim" and comes back with an individual who is then ritually murdered either by slitting the throat, stabbing through the heart, or by being burnt.

In certain cases the children themselves take part in sacrifice. Teenage girls and adult women have to sacrifice their own children. This makes them guilty of murder, which is then used to bring about another aspect of fear, showing them they are in the system and can't get out.

After the sacrifice they take out the heart, spleen and eyes and eat them. The children are also taught how to remove these parts of the body. The children state how bodies are chopped up. What is not eaten of the foetus is stored. Some of the bodies are melted down. The fat is used for candles and the bones are ground down and the powder used as an aphrodisiac.

What I have reported so far is only a partial picture. I know that there are other types of rituals which I have not mentioned. From our information a lot of these rituals are videoed by the people involved..."

Mrs. Davies' article also deals with symptoms shown by ritually abused children, significant satanic festival dates, and inter-agency networking ideas. She summarized her information by giving three case histories:

"Example 1. One 19 year old rang up after being involved in a satanic group which she had been introduced to by her mother and father. She had been made pregnant four times since the age of 14 purely for sacrifice. When she was five months pregnant the birth was induced. The live baby was placed on an altar and sacrificed by stabbing a dagger through its heart, drinking its blood then eating the body. The remains were left in the deep freeze until another ritual. After her last pregnancy, the birth was induced and she had to kill her own baby herself. She has now come out of the cult but her brothers and sisters are still involved.

Example 2. Two children now six and four were introduced to the cult by their father. The little boy witnessed human sacrifice through stabbing a dagger through the heart and the subsequent burning of the victim's body on a cross. They were also subjected to sexual abuse, physical and emotional abuse. The child was sent to his mother's house by the father to set it on fire.

Example 3. A 15 year old was recruited through the tarot cards, enticed back to a house and drugged. Perverted sex then took place. The subject was then blackmailed and then subjected to black magic rituals. Now she has horrific nightmares and a personality change.

CONCLUSION. The part we have played is to help people have a better understanding of the occult and what it means. We are convinced that there is a supernatural realm, which is not imaginary and which is used for extremely evil and perverted ends. We are convinced that the statements the children make actually happen and we are beginning to have a picture of this scene on a national level. By doing research on the subject we are ready to inform the various agencies about occult activity in their area. We are also able to put people in touch with those who are prepared to help the victims."

I. CHURCH UNIVERSAL AND TRIUMPHANT (C.U.T.): This group continues to cause significant concern. A California court ruled against them, awarding $1.5 million, in the case of a C.U.T. member who was hired to work at their camp, but never paid. However, of greater concern is the interception of a C.U.T. member with $130,000 worth of illegally purchased weapons. Federal agents seized assault rifles, ammunition, AP bullets, and $26,000 in cash and gold. The member, Security Officer for C.U.T., planned to arm 200 people at the C.U.T. camp near Gardiner, Montana. Investigators researching or contacting this group or its members are advised to use extreme caution. "Guru Ma" (founder Elizabeth Claire Prophet) has 'prophesied' that the Russians will invade the U.S. in October '89. She has urged all C.U.T. members to come to Montana and purchase underground bunker space for $5-10,000 apiece. [Hal Mansfield, Religious Movement Resource Center, Ft. Collins, Co., submitted this information.]

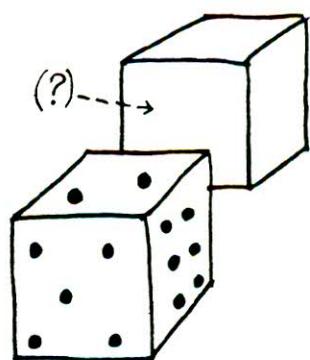

II. ASSOCIATED PRESS CONSISTENTLY REPORTS CULT/OCCULT STORIES: <Haddonfield, N.J., 7-17-89> "A weekend cross burning at a Haddonfield park may be the work of a cult or pranksters, but it was definitely not racially motivated...a passing motorist notified police after spotting the smoldering 7-foot cross...In recent months dead animals and pentagrams had been found in the area..."

<Albany, Oregon, 7-19-89> "A judge sentenced a Bend (Ore.) teenager to 45 days in jail for his part in the desecration of an Albany-area cemetery...that included digging up an 18-year-old grave and removing the skull from the corpse...(the suspect)...told jurors he had belonged to a Satanic cult whose members induced four other rock musicians who accompanied him to the cemetery..." Police could not locate the other suspects or the skull.

<Lincoln, Neb., 6-23-89> "Homicide, satanic cult worship, child prostitution and pornography emerged as potential pieces in the puzzle of a credit union's collapse as (Neb.) state senators accused the attorney general of bungling an investigation of the case...The most serious allegations...involved a 15-year-old girl in foster care who, in July, said she had been sexually abused and had witnessed the murder of a young boy (whose death was later described as 'a sacrifice.') Officers of the state's Foster Care Review Board asked the Attorney General to review the case because of a fear they could not trust a local investigation due to a "possible link" between a Savings and Loan Officer and the police chief..."

<Sacramento, Ca., 8-19-89> "[A Sacramento woman] who says she's a white witch and helped her coven sacrifice her boyfriend last year, pleaded guilty to second-degree murder...[she]...23, entered the plea...in Superior Court after providing prosecutors with a new statement detailing the October 18, 1988, drowning death of Joseph Bradsberry, 22...[The prosecutor] described to the Judge how [the suspect] lured Bradsberry to his fatal rendezvous with the four young men who killed him. [The suspect] told police she has been a white witch since she was 13 and about three weeks before Bradsberry's death joined an occult coven. She said she was informed that she would have to make a sacrifice, her infant son or Bradsberry..."

III. REQUEST FOR I.D. OF TATTOOS: Diane Mireles, Ritualistic Crime Consultants, Box 840275, Houston, TX., 77284, requests identification information on the following tattoos, their origins, and meanings in connection with a serious case. The cat atop the number 13 is located on the topside of the left forearm. The dice are located on the top side of the right forearm. Both are done in blue-green ink. Some details may be omitted because they were drawn from memory. Please contact Mireles or the Editor if you have information.

IV. ILLINOIS SATANIC MUTILATION LEGISLATION: Illinois Gov. James R. Thompson approved legislation creating the new felony offense of ritualistic mutilation. Effective January 1, 1990, this code provides for seven year prison sentences for guilty parties and a $10,000 fine if the person "...mutilates, dismembers, or tortures..." another as part of a ceremony or ritual. Another companion code defines "ritual brutality" as an aggravating factor in sentencing proceedings.

Most State Legislatures will soon be in session. Practical bills such as this which describe specific activities and avoid the 'state vs. religion' pitfalls will be useful as law enforcement identifies and brings more cult/occult-motivated criminals to trial. (The Editors would appreciate a copy of the Illinois codes.)

V. ANIMAL CRUELTY: A self-professed Satan worshipper was sentenced to 30 days in jail for cruelty to animals after police arrested the man while he was apparently in the middle of a satanic ritual. His girlfriend reported him. Police found a circle of salt in the suspect's driveway with a bloody blouse, a small fire, and two books of satanic incantations. Police said the blood came from a cockatoo caged inside the house, according to this Columbus, GA., A.P. story, 9-8-89.

Animal Control officers from around the country are taking increased interest in abuse and mutilation killings of small and large animals alike. Cult crime workshops have been sponsored and directed at animal control workers. File 18 has received many calls indicating that 'adoptions' of cats and dogs by 'unlikely people' increase prior to major sabbats, that mutilated remains are increasingly common, and that they have been successful in creating awareness and working criminal cases. The Animal Control or Humane Society personnel should be regarded as potential sources of valuable assistance. They have the codes, equipment, contacts, and resources to complete this portion of your investigation.

From the New Jersey S.P.C.A. News: "...Nine plastic bags filled with the remains of mutilated animals were discovered in Newark's Branch Brooks Park by the Essex County Park Police...All of the animals had been decapitated and their bodies had been split open...this incident is one of many ritual killings that have come to the attention of the Society, which is occurring throughout the U.S. and Europe..."

Editor's Note: If all you're finding is mutilated small animals, don't become complacent. Survivors tell us that even Satanic groups which regularly do human sacrifices, also often sacrifice animals. The newcomers, the dabblers, may be working up to the 'big time' by doing animals, but other groups mix human and animal rituals.

VI. KIDNAP-TORTURE CASE IN PENNSYLVANIA: Reports which seemed isolated, too-bizarre, and fantastic just a few years ago have become nearly commonplace--an indication that we are getting de-sensitized, but more aware. Charges of kidnapping, aggravated assault, terroristic threats, unlawful restraint, reckless endangerment, corruption of minors, and criminal conspiracy were filed against three adults, 18 and 19 years old, and two seventeen year olds, who allegedly performed a black mass on an abductee in Gilbert, PA., last July. The five suspects put a spiked collar around the victim's neck which punctured his neck, then "...bound him spread eagled to hooks in the center of a pentagram...then performed a black mass..." During evidentiary searches "...police removed three or four bags of Satanist materials from the barn and about four boxes from [one of the suspect's] room. Police confiscated about a dozen occult related books, including The Satanic Bible...The Devil's Dictionary, and Ritual Magic...[they]...also found a black hooded robe and a skull with a snake..." (Thanks to Steve Hoyle for submitting this A.P. article.)

VII. STRANGE LANGUAGES AND WRITING: Investigators of satanic crime will often come upon a ritual site with unusual signs or symbols, or upon graffiti or a document which appears to be writing in a foreign language, or a series of numbers. [Occult researcher Jack Roper (see enclosed flyer) of Milwaukee has compiled over fifty different alphabets available to and used by various occult groups. He has made these available in printed form and on slides for the serious investigator.]

Messages written in numerical codes may be complex WWII-era ciphers, or, may be decoded by as simple a means as the corresponding letter-number sequence on a telephone dial. Some secret alphabets are ancient, or modern, but merely reversed.

People who practice occult activity, for the most part, enjoy the mystique and secrecy involved. They may attach value to a particular ancient script which was used by their mentors or role models from past centuries. Many believe magical power is associated with words and writing. For instance, according to Wade Baskin (author of The Sorcerer's Handbook) the written language of the Runes has magical power and wisdom. He states: "The word 'rune' means mystery in its earliest usage in English and related language. From the outset, runes were associated with magic, divination and other rites. The runic alphabet later became the storehouse of pagan Germanic rites. The twenty-four runes of the common Germanic Futhorc (alphabet) were used to evoke or ward off the power contained in their names...Runes are credited with the power of resurrecting the dead and are associated with health, fertility, love, etc...."

With the resurgence of occult activity, rune magic, i.e.: casting runes, has also become common. Rune tablets are available through occult paraphernalia outlets and messages in rune alphabet are becoming more common.

Similarly, mystique and magic may be associated with other alphabets and the investigator should be familiar with the appearance of such 'hidden scripts' and know where to search for translation.

Satanist believe in the magic and power of languages. Aleister Crowley, the Father of modern Satanism, used Hebrew in his writings. Anton Lavey, author of the Satanic Bible, used the Enochian language. In the Satanic Bible it states "The magical language used in Satanic ritual is Enochian, a language thought to be older than Sanskrit, with a sound grammatical and syntactical basis. It resembles Arabic in some sounds and Hebrew and Latin in others".

In the Cambridge [University] Encyclopedia of Language it stresses the magickal belief within languages. "The belief that words control objects, people, and spirits can be seen in the use of magical formulae, incantations, litanies of names, and many other rites in black and white magic and in organized religion. The language is thought to be able to cure sickness, keep evil away, bring good to oneself and harm to an enemy."

One occultist summarized it this way "One way to put power into an object is to write appropriate words on it whilst directing your energies into the writing."

This 100 page research expose includes 55 sets of alphabets and various writing that can be used in magickal ceremonies, the Book of Shadows, a Satanic diary and on ritual paraphernalia. It also includes a brief history and bibliography. Each alphabet identifies the source for further study. A 55 slide set is also available for training.

This research project is intended primarily for Law Enforcement. The author has the selective right in distribution. An official letter head is requested.
